Demands Hearings End

Nixon: Nation Mired in Watergate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon said Wednesday night it is the "simple truth" that he is innocent of guilt in the Watergate affair. He suggested Senate investigators help solve the country's problems instead of trying to put the blame for the scandal on him.

Nixon asked the public to join him in demanding that the Senate end its hearings on

Watergate and turn the matter "over to the courts where the questions of guilt or innocence belong."

Nixon's remarks, made in a half-hour television address from the Oval Office, were a clear signal to his critics that he was coming out fighting after four months of self-imposed silence on the scandal that has wrecked the upper echelons of his staff and sent his popularity rating to an all-time low.

He declined to answer any of the specific charges of wrongdoing raised during the 37 days of Watergate testimony on grounds that "it would be neither possible to provide nor appropriate to attempt a definitive account of all that took place."

Rather, he sought to convince the public that foes bent on his political destruction were preventing an innocent President from solving inflation and other urgent problems.

"We must not stay so mired in Watergate that we fail to respond to the challenges of a surpassing importance to America and the world," he said.

"We cannot let an obsession with the past destroy our hopes for the future . . . These are matters that will not wait. They cry out for action now."

Nixon said that while the Senate committee had set out initially to uncover facts about the bugging at the Democratic national headquarters, it had become clear after more than two million words of testimony that it has "become increasingly absorbed in an effort to implicate the President personally in the illegal activities that took place."

His television address was accompanied by a 3,000-word statement in which the only specific charge he dealt with was the claim by John W. Dean III, his ousted White House counsel, that he had been warned as early as last September that a Watergate cover-up was under way.

On the contrary, Nixon said,

"he gave me no whatever to believe that any others were guilty." And on top of this, he said Dean's testimony had been contradicted by the 34 other witnesses before the committee.

"I had no prior knowledge of the Watergate operation. I neither took part in nor knew about any of the subsequent cover-up activities. I neither authorized nor encouraged subordinates to engage in illegal or improper campaign activities," Nixon said.

"That was and is the simple truth."

As he had on May 22 in a previous public statement, Nixon said it was not until March 21 when Dean came into his office and laid out the whole story that he became aware of the dimensions of the scandal.

"Because I trusted the agencies conducting the investigations and because I believed the reports I was getting, I did not believe the newspaper accounts of a cover-up," he said.

"I was convinced that there was no cover-up because I was convinced that no one had anything to cover up."

Nixon defended his decision to withhold from investigators records of Watergate conversations which could clear up the conflicting claims of his former associates.

To do so would cripple all future presidents by inhibiting conversations between them and their advisors and make it impossible for them to get the candid advice needed to do their job, he said.

Fog Horn Is Stolen

KINGSTON

A watery getaway was made sometime earlier this week when someone broke into the Kingston Lighthouse — approachable only in a boat or by swimming — and made off with the fog horn.

The FBI and area police agencies have been called in to investigate the theft, which, according to U.S. Coast Guard Chief Jack Keasler, has caused a dangerous situation to exist on the Hudson River. Keasler warned, "In fog, without the fog horn, a tanker could easily run aground and there would be a pollution problem like Kingston has never seen before."

Keasler said the theft, discovered Wednesday, occurred some time during the previous five days. He urged anyone having information about the theft — a federal offense — to contact police. He also urged the person or persons who took the horn to return it.

Maryland Judges Disqualify Selves in Agnew's Case

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Maryland's nine federal judges have disqualified themselves from any court action involving Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

Chief U.S. District Judge Edward Northrop said Wednesday the judges in Maryland would not "handle anything relating to the vice president" because of Agnew's "unique position" in the state. Agnew is the former governor of Maryland.

Northrop asked the 4th U.S. Court of Appeals in Richmond, Va., to designate a judge from outside Maryland to "supervise and handle all future matters arising from the inquiry of the special grand jury which in any matter whatever pertains to the vice president of the United States."

Agnew is being investigated by the U.S. district attorney in Baltimore for allegations he was involved in a kickback scheme involving government contracts while he was governor. The vice president has called the allegations "damned lies."

The New York Times reported today that Agnew was briefed by Attorney General

Elliot L. Richardson 10 days ago about the federal bribery and kickback investigation involving him.

The Times said Richardson told Agnew what the government's case consisted of so far, including testimony from more than 20 Maryland businessmen who have told prosecutors they gave cash to Agnew's associates for government contracts.

In addition, three of the Agnew associates told prosecutors they gave some of the payments to the vice president, the Times said Richardson told Agnew. The three were identified in the dispatch as Lester Matz, Jerome B. Wolff, and Allen I. Green.

Matz told the government on one particular occasion, he gave Agnew $2,500 in 1971 for his help in getting someone a job in the General Services Administration, the Times said. Matz said the transaction took place in the presence of J. Walter Jones, a Maryland banker, but Jones denied it. He told the Times "such a thing is ridiculous."

In a speech in Denver Wednesday night, Agnew said public officials have the right—and sometimes must—defend their actions, honor and integrity against false and malicious accusations leaked to the news media.

"This is perhaps even more important for a public man whose effectiveness and credibility depend largely upon his reputation, a reputation that he has spent a lifetime building," Agnew told a banquet audience at the International Boilermakers Convention.

Agnew said every public official must expect to draw criticism for the way he handled his job.

"But just as each citizen has a right to criticize those in public office, so does every public official have the right to defend his good name," he said.

Agnew said officials also have the right to defend their reputations in the manner they think best.

"A president, in defending himself, must look always to the broader interests of his country—look beyond his personal welfare—for if he does not, he will surely betray the people he serves," Agnew said.

Meanwhile, a special grand jury was expected to start hearing testimony today on allegations that Agnew was involved in a bribery and kickback scheme.

The Justice Department confirmed Wednesday that Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson met with Agnew privately to discuss the status of the investigation.

The meeting took place Aug. 6, according to department spokesman Horace Webb. The overall investigation began last December, but did not involve Agnew until this spring. Subpoenaed records date back through Agnew's term as governor of Maryland.

More Arrests Made in Area Stolen Car Case

By MATT SPIRENG

PORT EWEN

Continuing investigation by Highland State Police into a huge stolen car ring apparently centered in Ulster County resulted in the arrest Wednesday of three New York City area men allegedly making a delivery of a stolen vehicle to Milton Auto Wreckers in Milton.

Additionally, Janet Edith Holmes, wife of Frederick Harold Holmes of 181 Salem Street, Port Ewen, proprietor of Milton Auto Wreckers, was arrested Wednesday by Rhode Island State Police in that state on a charge of possession of a stolen motor vehicle. Holmes was arrested Tuesday in Milton in connection with his alleged involvement in the auto theft ring.

The number of stolen autos recovered by New York and Rhode Island State Police and the Federal Bureau of Investigation continued to rise today. At latest count, police said more than 40 vehicles had been recovered, with a total value in excess of $100,000.

Shortly before 11 a. m. today, state police reported the recovery of a $6,000 stolen Cadillac from a wooded area in Ulster Park.

Wednesday's arrest of Antonio Torres, 29, of 10 Eisenhower Avenue, Brentwood, L.I., Santo Ruiz, 44, of 127 57th Street, Brooklyn, and Raphael Vasquez, 22, of 118 Segal Street, Brooklyn on charges of criminal possession of stolen property in the first degree resulted from

State Police said Torres was observed shortly after noon Wednesday delivering a car to the Milton firm. He left the car, police said, and was picked up in another vehicle by Ruiz and Vasquez.

Further investigation revealed that the car left at Milton Auto Wreckers was stolen, police said. The three men were kept under continued surveillance by BCI Investigators J. A. Fitzgerald and J. F. Franke and Trooper G. G. Henne.

Police said the three men drove to 181 Salem Street, Holmes' address, and found no one home. Police arrested them shortly after they left the house.

All three were arraigned before Esopus Town Justice Robert Jordan. Ruiz and Vasquez were confined in jail in lieu of $5,000 bail each. Torres was confined in lieu of $15,000 bail.

Police said they had no further details on the arrest of Janet Holmes in North Scituate, R.I., other than what she had been charged with.

While stolen vehicles have been recovered in several states, State Police said three or four vehicles owned by Ulster County residents which had been purchased from Milton Auto Wreckers were turned in to police on Wednesday. Police advised anyone who has bought a car from Milton Auto Wreckers to contact the State Police in Highland or Hurley with and who turns the car in will not be criminally prosecuted.

However, police said there is a "definite possibility" of more arrests forthcoming from the continued investigation.

Warrants for the arrest of Frederick Holmes, who was arrested Tuesday on a charge of being a fugitive from justice from Rhode Island, were lodged Wednesday at Ulster County Jail where Holmes is being held in lieu of $25,000 bail. Police said the warrants charge him with "several counts" of criminal possession of stolen property in the first and second degree.

Israel Warns Hunt Will Not Stop

ENVOY SCALI
(UPI TELEPHOTO)

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel warned the world today that despite condemnation from the U.N. Security Council, it will not let the rules of international law stand in the way of its hunt for Palestinian guerrilla leaders.

"We will still get those that advocate the liquidation of Israel and those who continue to engage in murder," Israel's chief of staff, Lt. Gen. David Elazar, said at a military ceremony.

"There is no way to get to them within international law, but we have the right of existence and the right of self-defense."

He added that "international law is not enforced against the terrorists." And he warned that the world can expect more operations like the interception last Friday of a Lebanese airliner the Israelis thought was carrying four guerrilla leaders.

The plane was diverted to an Israeli airfield, held for two days of debate and negotiations, Egypt, Iraq, the Soviet Union, Sudan, Indonesia, India, Yugoslavia and China all favored a stronger resolution, ranging from harsher condemnation of Israel to urging Israeli action. Israel's ambassador to the United Nations, Yosef Tekoa, rejected the condemnation, terming it "the customary oned-sided text that this Israel's strongest backer."

U.S. Ambassador John Scali had threatened to use the U.S. veto for the sixth time in U.N. history if there was a call for sanctions. Three of the past U. S. vetoes killed anti-Israeli resolutions.

Wednesday's measure told Israel to desist from "any and all acts" violating Lebanon's sovereignty and territorial integrity and endangering international civil aviation. It "solemnly warned" that if such acts are repeated, the council will consider taking adequate steps or measures to enforce its resolutions.

After the vote, Scali said he wanted to make clear the vote against the Israelis constituted no change in American policy toward Israel or in the Middle East.

He said it showed the world body "is unable to cope with international terrorism in general and with Arab terrorism in particular."

The United States and the other 14 members of the Security Council voted unanimously Wednesday to condemn the Israeli action. Israel's ambassador to the United Nations, Yosef Tekoa, rejected the condemnation, terming it "the customary oned-sided text that this Israel's strongest backer."

Another Arab Plane Hijacked

TEL AVIV (UPI) — An Arab airliner, hijacked on a flight from Benghazi to Beirut, landed at Lod International Airport today and was immediately surrounded by Israeli troops.

The intentions or demands of the hijackers—and exactly who the hijackers were—was not clear.

Military spokesmen said two gunmen took control of the Middle East Airways Boeing 707 over Cyprus and ordered it to Lod with its 110 passengers and crewmen.

Escorted on its approach by Israeli fighter bombers, the plane landed and was immediately taxied to a remote corner of the airport and surrounded.

"They are definitely not Israelis," a military spokesman said when asked if the hijackers might be Israeli agents making another try at capturing traveling Arab guerrillas.

In Beirut a Middle East Airlines spokesman said, "The aircraft is carrying around 110 passengers. All we know is that it has been hijacked. We don't know by whom or why."

The aircraft was hijacked on a scheduled flight that left Benghazi at 2:15 p.m. It was scheduled to land in Beirut at 3:15 p.m.

A spokesman for the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine (PFLP) said in Beirut there was definitely no member of the organization aboard the aircraft.

Last Friday, Israeli warplanes appeared over Lebanon and forced a Middle East airliner bound from Beirut to Baghdad with 81 persons aboard to fly to an Israeli air base near Haifa where the plane and passengers were detained for two hours and then released.

The Israelis said they were searching for Arab Palestinian leaders, especially George Habash, leader of the PFLP, but they were not aboard. Habash said later in Beirut he had suspected something wrong and had not boarded the plane at the last minute.

The airport was closed until further notice, and emergency procedures were immediately put into effect when the hijacked plane landed today.

"It just landed at Lod," a spokesman said at 4:40 p.m.

Rhinebeck to Seek Aid For Sewer System Project

By TIM SCHUSTER

RHINEBECK — The Rhinebeck Village Board has decided to apply for state aid for a sewerage system.

A resolution was passed this week to have Village Clerk Patricia Pflum draw up the application to the state for financial aid for water quality improvement.

The idea of constructing a sewerage system for the village is not new, but it has been gaining impetus for the past two years. A gathering of downtown businessmen petitioned the village board in 1972 to apply for public monies for this purpose.

The feeling expressed by some board members has been that the village should endeavor to amortize its $6 million water treatment plant to a greater degree before committing itself to a sewerage system.

It was also pointed out at Tuesday night's meeting of the village board that no official applications have been received by the village for water from the Palermo project, the proposed Weingarten subdivision, or from the Staatsburg water company, a private outfit.

Leonard Rachmilowitz, partner in ownership of the Staatsburg company, has been engaged in talks with village officials for some time exploring the possibility of buying village water.

It was also decided by board members that no new engineer for the water plant will be sought in the immediate future. "We'll leave things as they are for now," said Mrs. Pflum.

In other business, Trustee Eugene Trombini reported that blacktopping of Knollwood and South Parsonage Streets is proceeding on schedule, and that Parsonage Street will be done after the conclusion of the Dutchess County Fair.

There will be no parking on Chestnut Street and Platt Avenue during fair week for fire and safety purposes. Beech Street has been changed once again for traffic — whereas it was changed last month to one-way going south, it is now one-way going north. The reason given was to avoid having two one-way streets in a row off East Market Street, both going in the same direction.

Stewart Impact on Ulster Discussed

NEW PALTZ — The impact of an expanded Stewart Jetport on the economy, population and lifestyle of southern Ulster County was discussed — but not resolved — at an informational meeting Wednesday night between the MTA and county officials.

The MTA's first phase report on Stewart concerns development of the immediate airport area only, and doesn't cover expected "spinoff" effects, on surrounding areas. Those impact studies won't even be started until the basic airport expansion plan is approved by the state legislature and the federal Aviation Administration.

So there was little in the way of specific and detailed information that the MTA could offer county officials on the eventual impact of the proposed Stewart Jetport. In fact, a few more unanswered questions may have been raised.

Wednesday's meeting, held at the State University College at New Paltz, was requested by county officials. The meeting marked the first time that any county government in the Mid-Hudson area had requested a formal meeting with the MTA on its plans for Stewart. The MTA was apparently only too happy to comply.

Attending the session were county legislators, town supervisors and planners, environmental commission members and members of the Ulster County Planning Board, including Herbert Hekler, its director. The meeting was not open to the press or public.

Hekler said today that the "main areas of concern" expressed Wednesday night included population impact, ground traffic flow, noise impact and the environmental aspects of the plan.

If the MTA's master plan for Stewart is eventually approved, said Hekler, an additional 117,000 jobs will be created on and off the airport by 1990. That translates to an additional 253,000 people "on the doorstep of Ulster County."

But the MTA couldn't project how many of those 253,000 new residents would take up residence in Ulster County. Hekler, however, puts the figure at between 50,000 and 100,000. The projected population for Ulster County, without Stewart, is only 200,000.

"The effect on Marlborough, Shawangunk, Plattekill, all the way up to New Paltz, would be tremendous," said Hekler.

There was also some question Wednesday night whether state and federal impact aid would be available for school districts and communities in Ulster County, that won't receive tax base benefits from Stewart, but that will have to provide additional services for the people who will work at the Newburgh airport. Hekler said the MTA gave no indication that extra state and federal aid would be made available. The possibility was also discussed.

raised that the New York State Thruway would have to be widened to handle the additional traffic between New York City, Newburgh and points further north. The MTA said specific details in that area won't be worked out until the first phase of the Stewart plan is approved. Hekler said a congested Thruway "would have a definite impact" on Ulster County's tourist trade, "especially if the people can't get here." Im-Mervin Jones, acting Republican Town chairman, said his ell, clerk; and Bertha Gorman, party had nominated "a very tax collector.

Thomas Thompson, a retired correction officer and union official, headed the slate of candidates nominated Wednesday night by the Town of Wawarsing Republicans at their caucus. Thompson, like most of the slate the Republicans nominated, is making his first try for public office. Joining him on the ticket will be Ronald Irwin, Arnold Ryan, and incumbent Councilman Frank Greco, all seeking seats on the town board. Irwin, an Ellenville school teacher, will be seeking a two-year seat to fill a vacancy left by the death of former Democratic Councilman James Furman several months ago. Ryan, a correction officer, will be seeking a four-year term on the board. Neither he nor Irwin have run for office before. Greco, also seeking a four-year term, will be running for his fourth term on the board. Augustus Hull, a former employee of the town highway department, was nominated for the highway superintendent's post. He too has never before run for political office. Nominated for clerk was Merrill Williams, another political newcomer. Williams is employed by the Ulster Knife factory, and has long been

Republicans Select Lasher

NEW PALTZ Incumbent Councilman Walter Dyer declined renomination. Incumbent Town Clerk Jane Ossman was renominated. She was Lasher's deputy when he was clerk, and was named town clerk when Lasher moved up to supervisor. Roy Brown, who has been acting as foreman of the town highway department during the recent illness of Highway Superintendent David Decker, was nominated for the highway superintendent post. Decker did not seek reelection for reasons of health. Incumbent Town Justice Rexford Schneider was renominated. Schneider was first elected a town councilman in 1962, and was named to the justice post in 1966.

Mrs. Taylor will be seeking her first term on the board. Chairman Peter J. Savago, who is also chairman of the Ulster County Legislature and a candidate for reelection, lauded the selections as "an excellent slate of very well-qualified candidates."

Opposing the Republicans in the November elections will be Democrats John Logan for supervisor; Ralph Kulseng and John Vett, councilmen; Kathy Puglisi, clerk; Alan Sussman; justice; and Al Krom, highway superintendent.

On Vesco's Campaign $ Aid

Mitchell, Stans Date Stands

NEW YORK (AP) — The trial of justice charges him from Costa Rica, where he has vast investments. A bill of particulars filed last Monday by U.S. Atty. Paul Curran charged Mitchell and Stans, then high officials of Nixon's re-election committee, with filing false and fraudulent reports on contributions to last year's campaign. The government claims they conspired to obstruct an investigation of Vesco's financial dealings by the Securities and Exchange Commission, in return for the large cash contribution. Vesco, also a defendant, fled the country before the three were indicted last May. He has resisted U.S. efforts to dislodge committee may have made if the allegation regarding Watergate figures "stays in this case, we've got to prepare a trial of Watergate." Judge Gagliardi said "Watergate is not part of this case." He added that the Vesco case was "basically a very simple case." Walter J. Bonner, a lawyer for Stans, contended that "overzealous prosecutors have overstepped their bounds" and threatened another of Stans' attorneys, Kenneth Wells Parkinson of Washington. Bonner said that during an interview of Parkinson by Asst. U.S. Atty. James Rayhill, the prosecutor had termed some of Parkinson's statements "preposterous" and warned him it would be "a terrible mistake not to testify truthfully" if he were called before a grand jury. Judge Gagliardi said he would rule later on a defense motion to dismiss the case or suppress the information obtained from Parkinson by the prosecution.

Goldwater Thinks President Failed to Divert Suspicion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Barry M. Goldwater believes President Nixon failed to say anything in his Watergate report that will tend to divert suspicion from him. The former Republican presidential candidate made the assessment Wednesday night after Nixon addressed the nation on television. But Goldwater also said he stood behind the President in his appeal that the country get on with more urgent business. Generally, reaction from officials to the President's speech was along party lines. Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., said Nixon's remarks were "frank, candid, honest and as much as should be required." Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, said he was "not impressed" and found it difficult to understand how Nixon could be "totally ignorant" of the actions of high officials of his administration. Goldwater said it appeared to him that "the President did not add anything to his other speeches that would tend to divert suspicion from him." He said, however, he stood behind Nixon "in his appeal for Americans to recognize existing and obvious dangers to our Republic, our economy and the good of the nation and the world." Three members of the Senate Watergate committee had immediate comments. Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., said any information Nixon could offer was welcome and would be used to help the investigators write a "meaningful report." Sen. Joseph P. Montoya, D-N.M., complained Nixon failed to inform the public about essential facts regarding his role and was wrong in suggesting the hearings should be concluded. Sen. Daniel Inouye, D-Hawaii, said contrary to Nixon's feeling the committee was trying to implicate him. "I think all of us have been trying our best to assist the President and to clear the President."

'White House Enemies' Listened

NEW YORK (UPI) — About 300 official and unofficial "White House Enemies" gathered at a New York restaurant Wednesday night to groan and jeer at President Nixon's televised Watergate address. The party was billed as "An Evening With the Enemies" in honor of those listed by presidential aides as White House enemies. The list was disclosed in testimony at the Senate Watergate hearings. Those attending paid $30 apiece, $20 to pay for the party and $10 going to the Reporters' Committee for Freedom of the Press. Among those on the enemies list at the party were realtor Lewis Rudin, General Motors heir Stewart Mott, Sid Davidoff, a former aide to Mayor John V. Lindsay, and commentator Murray Kempton. They joined others to watch the President's address, which was greeted with "groans, growls and just plain belly laughs at strategic points," according to one of those attending. Later, Off Track Betting Chairman Howard Samuels was master of ceremonies for some political satire and an award presentation to Washington Post reporters Bob Woodward and Carl Bernstein for their Watergate coverage. The reporters, who were not present, were given a small silver shovel. The engraving on the handle said "Keep Digging."

Highlights of Nixon's Watergate Talk

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Highlights of President Nixon's Watergate address: "As the weeks have gone by, it has become clear that both the hearings themselves and some of the commentaries on them have become increasingly absorbed in an effort to implicate the President personally in the illegal activities that took place." "Because the abuses occurred under my administration, and in the campaign for my re-election, I accept full responsibility for them. I do not question the right of a Senate committee to investigate charges made against the president to the extent that this is relevant to their legislative operation. I neither took part in nor knew about any of the subsequent cover-up activities; I neither authorized nor encouraged subordinates to engage in improper campaign tactics." "On May 22, I stated in very specific terms—and I state again to every one of you listening tonight—I had no prior knowledge of the Watergate operation. I neither took part in nor knew about any of the subsequent cover-up activities; I neither authorized nor encouraged subordinates to engage in improper campaign tactics." "That was and is the simple truth." "In all of the millions of words of testimony, there is not the slightest suggestion that I had any knowledge of the planning for the Watergate break-in. As for the cover-up, my statement has been challenged by only one of the 35 witnesses who appeared—a witness who offered no evidence beyond his own impressions, and whose testimony has been contradicted by every other witness in a position to know the facts."

One Alleged Holdup Man Killed, Another Seized

Four Bank Robbery Tries in N.Y.C.

NEW YORK (UPI) — One alleged holdup man was killed and another was captured in four separate bank robbery attempts Wednesday, three of them at Manufacturers Hanover Bank branches. The most violent incident occurred at a Manufacturers Hanover branch office in the Bedford-Stuyvesant section of Brooklyn. Police said gunmen carrying pistols and a shotgun entered the bank, announced a stickup, and ordered tellers to put money into plastic bags. The bank's guard, Charles Winter, who was in the basement when the gunmen entered, heard a commotion and cautiously went upstairs, gun in hand. Police said Winter confronted one of the gunmen standing by the door and ordered him to drop his chrome-plated .38 caliber revolver. Instead, the gunman turned and fired at Winter, who returned the shots killing the suspect, later identified as William Bennett, 31. At a Manufacturers' branch in the Bronx, a lone gunman pointed a gun at a woman teller and demanded money. The teller reportedly handed over about $3,500 in cash and the gunman escaped. At a third Manufacturers' branch, in midtown Manhattan, police said a would-be robber handed a teller a note which read, "The money in the drawer," but fled before collecting anything. The fourth incident took place at a Franklin National Bank branch. Police said a lone robber walked into the bank, pulled a gun and escaped with $1,500 in marked bills from two tellers.

GOP to Select Candidate for Judge

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON Voting machines will be employed tonight when Ulster County Republicans make their choice of a candidate for Family Court Judge from a field of six announced contenders — Sherwood Davis, Bernard Feeney Jr., Richard Griggs, Richard Overbagh, Joseph D. Saccoman and Seymour Werbalowsky.

The secret balloting will take place at a party caucus to be held at 8 at the George Washington School in Kingston, according to Clarence Anderson, secretary of the Ulster County Republican Committee.

Balloting will continue until one of the six candidates attains a majority of the 292 votes to be cast. If none of the six achieves a majority on the first ballot, then the low man will be eliminated and another ballot will be cast. The same procedure will be followed until the candidate is chosen.

All six candidates have been actively seeking the nomination in what County GOP Chairman Albert Spada has declared "a wide open race." He said that the candidates have naturally been seeking the support of Republican officials and committeemen but that the decision as to who will be the candidate lies in the ballot box.

Ulster Republicans already have one incumbent Family Court Judge — Hugh R. Elwyn. The New York State Legislature this year created a second Family Court Judgeship for which the GOP is now seeking a nominee.

Davis, who was admitted to the Bar 23 years ago, has had a very active practice before the Family Court of Ulster County. He also served three and one-half years as attorney to the Department of Social Services and was associated with the late Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson as his counsel. Davis resides in the Town of Ulster.

Feeney is also a Town of Ulster resident and a member of the law firm of Rusk, Rusk and Feeney. He has been an attorney since 1956 and has represented clients on numerous occasions in Family Court.

Feeney also served as Special City Court Judge during the 1960's. He is active in many community organizations.

Griggs is a resident of the Town of Esopus and has been a practicing attorney in Kingston for 15 years. During the past 10 years he has served as assistant county attorney and is presently counsel for the Ulster County Welfare Department.

He is past president of Ulster County Unit, American Cancer Society.

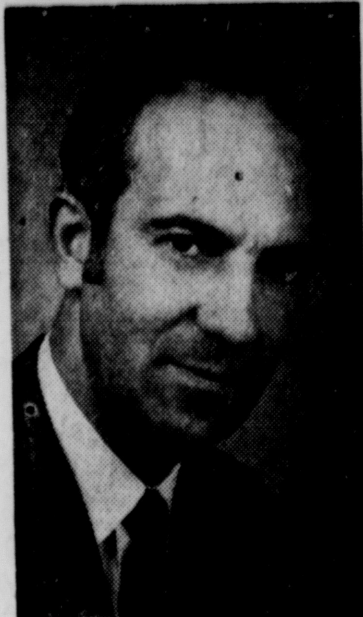

Overbagh, a Saugerties resident, was a former law clerk to County Judge John M. Cashin and was admitted to the Bar in 1938. He has also served as law guardian for Family Court and over a 10-year period has appeared in hundreds of cases. Active in church, library, scouting and community affairs, he has been engaged in general law practice including trial and appellate work.

Saccoman is a former city judge and has also served as administrator for the Assigned Counsel Plan for Ulster County, as confidential law clerk to County Judge Raymond J. Mino and as a member of the College Council, State University of New York. He is a member of the board of Rondout National Bank and past president of the Ulster Unit, American Cancer Society.

Werbalowsky, a resident of the Town of Ulster, is a former commissioner of elections and a member of the law firm of Richter and Werbalowsky. He has had extensive trial experience with emphasis on Family Court and has served as law guardian for youngsters appearing in Family Court. Active in Jewish community activities, he is a past Legion vice commander.

Johnson Is Esopus Candidate

TOWN OF ESOPUS Tom Johnson has announced that he will be a candidate for the post of Town Councilman when the Town of Esopus Republican Party meets in caucus Saturday night.

Three Town Board seats will be contested this year. Two of the seats are four-year posts; the other is for two years.

A resident of Sleightsburg, Johnson is a member of the Town of Esopus Planning Board, the newly created Esopus Park Police and the American Bicentennial Revolution Committee.

Long active in news reporting and film producing endeavors, Johnson is a member of the Radio and TV News Directors Association, and is a CBS-TV Newfilm cameraman. He has made several documentary films, and teaches film courses at Dutchess Community College.

Stating that any candidate for a public office "should be willing to submit to the voters his views, record and competence," Johnson listed several "basic issues" that confront the Town of Esopus. They include:

• "Whether citizens of the Town of Esopus can enjoy the benefits of a secure and law abiding community, where they may always walk the streets in safety;

• "Whether additional community services may be provided, with a minimum of cost to the taxpayer, to promote a more secure life for our residents;

• "Whether the children of the town can obtain safe, decent, adequate public schooling and extended town recreational facilities."

The caucus will be held at 8 p. m. at the Town Hall in Port Ewen.

DuMond Declares

HURLEY director of the constabulary for eight years.

He is a past president of Hurley Republican Club and also served as its vice president.

DuMond is also a member of Hurley Lions Club, Veterans of Foreign Wars, has served as chief of the Ulster County Constables Association and as a member of the National Sheriff's Association.

Hurley Republicans will caucus Friday night at 8 at St. Joseph's Church Mission Hall.

Woman Eyes Clerk's Spot

Mrs. Patricia Glass of West Hurley would like to make known to the people of the Town of Hurley that she is a candidate for the Republican nomination for the Town Clerk.

Mrs. Glass would like to remind all enrolled Republicans in the Town of Hurley that the caucus will be held Friday, Aug. 17, at 8 p. m., at St. Joseph's Mission on Zandhoek Road in Hurley.

Mrs. Glass has been a resident of Hurley for about 24 years. She is married to Gilbert Glass, a School Bus Contractor for Onteora Central School. She is the mother of Peter, a teacher in Greenville, N.Y.; Jerry, a student of the University of Northern Colorado; Holly who will attend SUNY at Oswego; and Suzi, a student at West Hurley Elementary School.

Educated in Kingston City Schools, Mrs. Glass also has taken night school courses and attended UCCC. She is a member of St. John's R.C. Church in Stony Hollow and is a Session Manager for CCD Classes.

Consolation Prizes will be paid starting the day after the Preliminary Drawing. And can be collected anytime within one year of that date.

Can you win more than one prize?

It's possible. Not likely, mind you. But it could happen! After all, there'll be two winning numbers. And, if you have a big bunch of tickets, who knows? It's fun to dream.

You have just until August 22!

It's not a lot of time. Don't miss out. This super special could make you rich. With money for the rest of your life! The more tickets you buy, the better your chances of winning. Play!

What a special! There'll be over $6,000,000 in prize money. And 100,000* winners. No lottery anywhere has ever offered so much dough to so many people. And when it's over, you could be in the chips for the rest of your life!

There'll be two winning numbers!

Double excitement! Two winning numbers will be selected at the Preliminary Drawing, to be held Sept. 5. That means that you have two chances to win with every ticket you buy.

Get a load of the Grand Prizes!

(based on sale of 5,000,000 tickets)

1 prize of $50,000 a year for life.
1 prize of $300 a week for life.
1 prize of $200 a week for life.
7 prizes of $100 a week for life.

Up to 5 people can share in any of the above annuity prizes.

YOU WIN ONE OF THE GRAND PRIZES if all 6 digits of your ticket match all 6 digits of either of the two winning numbers picked at the Sept. 5, Preliminary Drawing.

Wonderful! But which Grand Prize? A Final Drawing will be held the week of Sept. 24 to determine which particular Grand Prize you win.

Grand Prize payments guaranteed for 20 years even if you're 99 years old!

It doesn't matter how old you are. If you win any one of the Grand Prizes, you or your heirs are guaranteed payment for at least 20 years.

For example, if you win, say, the $50,000 a year for life, you or your heirs collect not less than $1,000,000! On $300 a week for life, the minimum guarantee is $312,000. On $200 a week for life, it's $208,000. And on each of the $100 a week for life prizes, it's $104,000.

Those are the minimums. You can win even more! The $50,000 a year for life prize, for instance, pays $1,500,000 in 30 years. $2,000,000 in 40 years. And $2,500,000 in 50 years. Beautiful, isn't it?

$3,780,000 in Consolation Prizes, too!

(based on sale of 5,000,000 tickets)

90 prizes of $2,000.
900 prizes of $1,000.
9,000 prizes of $100.
90,000 prizes of $20.

YOU WIN $2,000 if the last 5 digits of your ticket match the last 5 of either winning number.

YOU WIN $1,000 if the last 4 digits of your ticket match the last 4 of either winning number.

U.S. Bombs Failed To Achieve Goal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States raked Indochina with bombs for more than 8½ years, but in the end all that air power failed to bring the kind of peace this country sought.

In Cambodia, where the final U.S. raids were flown, an armada of fighter bombers and B52 heavy bombers may have bolstered the government's staggering army for the past six months.

But the 170,000 tons of bombs rained on Cambodian insurgents during that time did not force a cease-fire, which was the stated American objective, and the future of the U.S.-backed Cambodian government looks grim.

The raids were halted at midnight EDT Tuesday under an agreement between President Nixon and Congress.

In Laos, where American planes propped up the Laotian army with some 63,000 tons of bombs after the Vietnam cease-fire, there is an uneasy truce. But the Communist Pathet Lao and their North Vietnamese allies dominate about 80 per cent of the country, as do the insurgents in Cambodia.

Meanwhile, the North Vietnamese are expanding the Ho

Chi Minh trail in southern Laos to carry in larger tonnages of supplies to their troops in South Vietnam, even though this is forbidden under the Vietnam cease-fire agreement.

Boosters of U.S. air power claim the North Vietnamese were forced back to the Paris conference table by the heavy bombing of Hanoi in December.

Analysis

Even if this is true, and there are those who argue that it isn't, the agreement finally completed by U.S. and North Vietnamese diplomats in January has not worked out as Dr. Henry Kissinger, the chief U.S. negotiator, had hoped. Many of its key terms remain stillborn.

The fighting goes on in South Vietnam, although at a lower level and without American troops.

Meanwhile, the North Vietnamese have never stopped pumping war materiel, supplies and men into South Vietnam in the face of a flat ban on such activity under the peace agree-

In March, Nixon announced that the United States had told North Vietnam "of our concern about this infiltration, and we believe it to be a violation of the cease-fire and the peace agreement."

The North Vietnamese "should not lightly disregard" this warning, Nixon said.

But the North Vietnamese have done just that, so it appears the massed U.S. air power, including more than 430 bombers and fighter bombers in Thailand and 150 B52s on Guam, held no further terrors for Hanoi.

And, while Nixon's threats were being ignored in Hanoi, the continued bombing in Cambodia caused problems for Nixon at home, costing him much of his remaining war support in Congress.

In fact, Nixon suffered a defeat when he reluctantly accepted a bombing cutoff date.

With the future of Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos very much in doubt, the United States appears to have achieved relatively little through a mighty air war effort that dumped a record 7.4 million tons of bombs on Indochina starting in 1965.

Price Spiral Asset In Way of Health

NEW YORK (AP) — Today's runaway meat prices possibly can bring a dividend of fewer heart attacks and strokes, says a food expert.

Americans generally eat too much fat and some meats are a major source of it, says Mary Winston, nutritionist of the American Nutrition Association.

A high intake of fat is considered harmful to the heart, she explains. Being overweight also taxes your heart.

So, eating smaller portions of meat "would be a plus factor." So would the right choices of vegetables to substitute for the proteins contained in meat.

During World War II, the death rate from coronary heart attacks went down in countries where once-rich diets were cut back in total fat and calorie content.

But a wrong choice of substitutes for meat could be harmful, Mrs. Winston cautioned in an interview.

"Don't just substitute omelet for beefsteaks because eggs are cheaper. The yolk of one large egg contains 250 milligrams of cholesterol. Our Heart Association recommends you try to take in no more than 300 milligrams a day, averaged out over the week."

An excess of cholesterol, a waxy material, is blamed for clogging arteries of the heart and brain and producing heart attacks or strokes.

Food prices may well have profound effects on American patterns of eating, and housewives need some guidelines to assure good nutrition for their families, says Mrs. Winston. She was nutrition consultant to the new "American Heart Association Cookbook" containing more than 400 recipes from appetizers to desserts.

For years, Americans have been getting some 40 per cent or more of all their calories from fats. Heart experts urge reducing it to 30 per cent, with less of the total fat being the "saturated" type, which hardens when left standing at room temperature.

The fat around meat is highly saturated.

Three ounces of lean beef provides 8.4 grams of fat and 189 calories.

Three ounces of chicken provides 5 grams of fat, and 150 calories.

But that's for chicken without the skin. Eat the skin, and three ounces give you 14 grams of fat, and 248 calories, because most of the chicken fat lies on the inside of the skin.

Three ounces of most fishes supply 4.5 grams of fat and 126 calories. The fat in fish is unsaturated.

Meats, poultry and fish, eggs, skim and whole milk, yogurt and cottage cheese, are "complete" proteins containing all eight proteins considered essential to good nutrition, plus others.

Vegetables differ in content of the essential eight. Soybean contains seven, lacking one called methionine. Corn meal has that, though, so a combination of the two foods make up a diet as effective as one based on meat.

Various other combinations fill the protein demand, such as noodles with kidney beans and walnuts, grains and dried beans. Rice is not a "complete" protein. But a little meat added to it wipes out the deficit, making it quite sufficient.

On other points of advice Mrs. Winston says:

—The potato is much maligned as "fattening." But it is the butter, the sour cream, and other goodies that people put on the potato that makes it high in calories.

—If you are cutting back on butter and milk, which are good sources of iron and vitamin A, consider having beef liver once a week, because it's another good source of these nutrients.

—Frozen dinners "are terrible, nutritionally and economically."

Teddy Roosevelt Daughter Not Depressed by It All

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alice Roosevelt Longworth found a bat in her boudoir last week, and she couldn't stop laughing about it. Laughter these days in this muggy, scandal-ridden capital is hard to come by.

"You say everyone is depressed?" asked Mrs. Longworth, the scion of Washington aristocracy and President Theodore Roosevelt's candid, wispy-thin daughter. "I don't think in those terms."

"Everyone is hypnotized by Watergate. One hangs on the boob tube all day long. But depressed? I'm not depressed at all."

At 89, having lived through the Harding administration and Teapot Dome, Mrs. Longworth can't be expected to lie awake worrying about Watergate—or even the 2-cent rise in the cost of a loaf of bread.

But many of her Washington neighbors fret in proportion to the black headlines. The sky isn't falling, but on the cocktail circuit and in the green federal work warrens, some insist the government is.

So how do Washington residents find respite from the high temperatures and pressure-cooker atmosphere?

Some leave the city.

President Nixon has spent almost five of the past seven weeks away from the capital. And, after Agnew dismissed allegations against him as "damn lies," the vice president took off for a long weekend of golf in Palm Springs, Calif.

But for those who must depend on the highways and bridges to lead them to water, weekends are often synonymous with traffic jams.

The alternative? Stay in Washington. And many do.

"We're home for the summer, and it's awful," said Margaret Hahn, a prominent Washington hostess who is wife of former D.C. City Council Chairman Gilbert Hahn Jr. "Everybody's depressed. The government is in shambles, and the (stock) market's disastrous."

Bradley Under Knife, Condition Is Serious

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—An Army spokesman said that drug treatments to remedy "massive blood clots" on the 80-year-old general's lungs had failed, necessitating surgery. "An emergency procedure has just been completed," the UCLA Medical Center announced today. "Gen. Bradley's condition is considered serious."

A small umbrella-like sieve was inserted into the Vena Cava (the great vein leading into the heart) to prevent blood clots from traveling to the lungs, a medical center spokesman said. The clotting was believed to be the result of an injury received when Bradley played football as a cadet at West Point more than 50 years ago. Bradley "has been seriously ill with massive blood clots on both lungs since Monday morning," said an Army spokesman, Col. Robert T. Heder.

WRONGLY ACCUSED — Wilbur McDonald, 34, is hugged by his mother, Mrs. Pearl Burden, as he leaves criminal court in Chicago, Ill., after being freed on bond. McDonald served almost three years of a 100-year plus prison term for a murder which apparently was committed by someone else. Police now have a suspect for the 1970 slaying of Mrs. Agnes Lehman in Chicago's Grant Park. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Paltz Court Date Friday On Hitchhiker's Charge

A self-employed salesman from New City was arrested by the Rockland County Sheriff's Department Wednesday, and picked up the unidentified hitchhiker near Poughkeepsie at about 1 p.m. Wednesday. The youth claims that Vigue would not let him out of the car, and then assaulted him and stole his wallet. The hitchhiker told village police he forced his way out of the car when it stopped for a red light in New Paltz.

Police said the hitchhiker copied that car's license plate number, as well as a description of the car and the driver. New Paltz police traced the car and driver to New City, and used a teletype to alert Rockland county authorities. Vigue was arrested at his New City home late Wednesday afternoon, and turned over to New Paltz village police at about 7:30 p.m.

Vigue will return to court Friday night. The unlawful imprisonment charge is a felony.

New Paltz Man Faces 6 Charges

Six criminal charges were filed against a 31-year-old New Paltz man early today after he was stopped by Town of New Paltz police for allegedly passing a red light.

James L. Jacobs of 380 Springtown Road was charged with harassment, disorderly conduct, resisting arrest and three counts of assault on a police officer.

According to police, Jacobs' car was stopped on Main Street at about 3:30 a.m. today after it allegedly ran through a red light.

Police said Jacobs shouted verbal abuse at the investigating officer when he attempted to issue the traffic summons. When the officer then tried to arrest the man for harassment, said police, Jacobs allegedly resisted by throwing punches at the officer.

Backup units were called to the scene, and three police officers reportedly tried to subdue the man. All three were allegedly punched or bitten in the scuffle.

When he was finally subdued, Jacobs was arraigned before Town of New Paltz Justice Rexford Schneider, who committed the man to the Ulster County Jail in lieu of $1,000 bail. Further court proceedings will take place Friday night.

Three of the officers required a doctor's treatment at the scene.

Paltz Woman Hurt in Crash

Lillian Pole, 69, of 27 Glen Circle Drive, New Paltz, was listed in satisfactory condition today at Kingston Hospital suffering from injuries sustained in a one-car accident Wednesday night on Route 208 south of New Paltz.

Town police said the woman lost control of her vehicle and it crashed through guard rails and down an embankment.

Church Barbecue

The Rochester Reformed Church, Route 209, Accord, will hold its annual "Chicken Barbecue and Country Fair," Saturday, Aug. 25, from noon to 8 p.m.

In addition to the barbecue, there will be entertainment booths, baked goods and handiwork and antique booths. Group reservations for the barbecue can be made by calling the church.

Cremation will take place at the convenience of the family.

'Custom Cattle' First Time Since WWII

NEW YORK (UPI)—For the first time since World War II, cattle specifically custom slaughtered for the city, arrived in Jersey City, N.J. Wednesday to help ease the beef shortage in city institutions.

Officials expect the 34,367 pounds of beef to be served to municipal hospital patients beginning Monday.

Purchase Commissioner Marvin Gersten bought the beef from the Amarillo Feed Pens, of Amarillo, Tex., for 83 cents a pound.

Gersten said the beef supply will last a little less than a week since the city's hospitals usually use about 106,000 pounds during a two week period.

The city has resorted to soliciting bids to buy cattle in the mid west and far west in an effort to provide beef for such city institutions as hospitals and prisons.

The Gossip Column by Robin Adams Sloan

ADDRESS: Fabio's very testy.

Q: Why was President Nixon taping everything in his offices? I don't buy that "for posterity" stuff. — B.P., Roanoke, Texas.

A: Legal experts believe the President was hoping to fluff up his someday-to-be "Nixon Papers" in order to gain a possibly larger tax exemption in the future days when he will again be a private citizen. Nixon has already taken a reported $250,000 tax deduction on papers which he gave before the law allowing such exemptions was changed. Hope springs eternal that this law might be rescinded and in such case, the more things "taped," the more the President would have to include in his future gift papers to the nation.

Q: Tiny Tim has certainly dropped out of sight. Has he retired on the millions he made? — R.C., Hartsdale, N.Y.

A: Tiny Tim can't afford to retire. He blew all those millions on high living and now is playing small clubs around the country. However, he is making good money and has reconciled with his wife. Remember Miss Vicky?

Q: Do you think Ryan O'Neal will end up marrying Ursula Address his latest girl friend? — R.G., Paoli, Pa.

A: Not if Italian film actor Fabio Testi has anything to say about it. Fabio met Ursula when they were both doing a movie in Canada. He took her up in a private plane and threatened to crash it if she didn't agree to marry him.

Naturally Ursula said yes. However, now she isn't so sure and all she will say is that she and Fabio will buy a house together in London soon when she goes to do her next film. Ryan doesn't seem to fit into these plans anywhere.

GUESS WHO'S DOWN IN THE MOUTH? France's President Pompidou, and this time his ill health has nothing to do with it. People seeing Monsieur le President these days are astonished by his cataclysmic view of world events and the brutal language he uses to describe his fears. Pompidou thinks that if the U.S. doesn't stop the dollar slide, it will cause a large-scale economic depression in Europe next year. He believes Washington is deliberately letting the dollar slip as part of a secret economic war against the Common Market.

Q: What happened to the great romance between Tim Dalton and Vanessa Redgrave? — D.L., Nashville, Tenn.

A: Vanessa, ever impetuous, has ended her romance with the husband of actress Maggie Smith. (Robert Stephens and Maggie have reconciled.) Now Vanessa has gone back to the young actor Dalton, who starred in "Wuthering Heights."

Q: Is Merle Oberon going to marry that young Dutch actor? Since it can't be her youth, do you think it is her money? — E.M.B., New York City.

A: Well, Merle is at least 62 and Robert Wolders is 36, so you are right; it is probably not her youth. If it is money, Merle Oberon is not one of the big spenders. In fact, she is quite tight about money. Example: while in New York recently with her two children, she gave them breakfast out of her hotel suite refrigerator rather than sending for room service. Maybe it's just true love.

Q: Was Vice President Agnew sabotaged by the Administration as some people have suggested in connection with his recent troubles? — M.C., New York, N.Y.

A: A lot of Mr. Agnew's friends and many outsiders think the White House relishes the Vice President's problems and was happy to see him in hot water. But Agnew personally does not believe that the President or anyone in the Administration undercut him in any way. He is, however, furious that the whole thing came up.

Improvement Is Indicated On Gasoline Availability

WASHINGTON (AP) — A national survey indicates continued improvement in the availability of gasoline, although severe shortages still plague a few areas, the American Automobile Association said Tuesday.

The survey, the 11th in a weekly series, showed improvement for the sixth consecutive week.

The AAA reported that 54 per cent of the 3,982 independent and brand-name stations among major travel routes in the continental United States and Hawaii were operating at their normal hours and were permitting motorists to fill their tanks. This represented an improvement of one per cent over last week.

The survey also found:

— Fewer stations closed for lack of fuel.

— Fewer sold out of at least one grade of fuel.

— Fewer expecting additional supply cutbacks for the next week.

Among the problem areas the survey found that 88 per cent of the gasoline stations in Denver, Colo., were closed from noon on Saturday until 7 a.m. Monday, 49 per cent were closed by noon on weekdays, and 16 per cent were out of gasoline.

However, the AAA said the report on Denver indicated a slight improvement over the past week.

In Kansas, only 20 per cent of the stations checked were operating normally, down from 24 per cent a week ago.

The survey found that 27 per cent of the stations polled in Oregon were operating normally, up from 14 per cent last week.

And the AAA said that while gasoline was available without major inconvenience during daylight hours in the Rocky Mountain and Northwest areas, stations in Idaho, Utah and Washington showed reduced operating hours.

Favorable Balance of Payments

Financial and Commercial

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For the first time in nearly four years the United States has a favorable balance of payments. The Commerce Department reported Wednesday that foreign currency coming into the United States during the second quarter of this year was nearly $11 billion more than the outflow of dollars during the first three months, for a $463 million surplus. It was the first surplus since the last quarter of 1969. A $10.5 billion deficit was recorded during the first three months of the year. Officials, however, cautioned against assigning great significance to the relatively small, seasonally adjusted, surplus. The trade deficit narrowed from $1 billion during the first quarter to $300 million during the second. The change early this year from fixed to floating exchange rates in Europe, along with large Japanese sales of dollars to maintain the value of the yen, accounted for the payments turn-around, the department's Bureau of Economic Analysis reported. In addition, American investors were discouraged from investing abroad because of high domestic interest rates. The dollar has been gaining strength steadily on international markets in recent weeks, reflecting new confidence in the health of the U.S. economy in relationship to other nations, and a declining price of gold. The low point in the balance of payments occurred at the end of 1971 with $29.7 billion deficit.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices moved higher today as analysts pondered whether President Nixon's Watergate speech would have an appreciable effect on the market.

Some analysts said that after two weeks of sliding prices the market was ready for a rally, at least a brief one. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up almost a point near opening and advancing Big Board issues held a more than 2 to 1 lead over decliners. American Telephone & Telegraph warrants was the Big Board volume leader, up 1/4 at 5. The stock market closed Wednesday on firmer ground after two weeks of falling prices.

A GENTLE DAD — A baby muntjac or barking deer is given a gentle push by her father in their outdoor enclosure at the Philadelphia Zoo. The miniature deer was born last week-end and weighed six pounds at birth. The adults only grow to weigh about 35 pounds and stand 21 inches high. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Three Persons Are Injured In Accident

TOWN OF WAWARSING — Three persons were injured today at Ellenville Community Center when two cars collided on rain-slicked Route 55 in the Town of Wawarsing. The driver of the second car, a 1968 Ford Mustang, was traveling west on Route 55 when it apparently skidded on the wet pavement and was in collision with a car approaching in the opposite direction. The driver of the second car, and his two children, were injured in the mishap. Fifty-four-year-old Hans Born of Toms River, N.J., sustained chest injuries. He is in fair condition today at Ellenville Community Center. Sabanie Born, 10, and Glen Born, 13, both suffered minor injuries. Everett was not hurt.

Ellenville state police said a car driven by Nial Everett, 77, of Grahamsville, was traveling west on Route 55 when it apparently skidded on the wet pavement and was in collision with a car approaching in the opposite direction.

Dollar Hits 2-Month Highs

LONDON (AP) — The U.S. dollar hit new two-month highs today on European foreign exchange markets. Dealers attributed the latest rise to the improvement in the U.S. balance of payments and said President Nixon's Watergate speech apparently had little effect on the market.

The dollar was quoted in London at $2.4440 to the pound, up 1.85 cents from Wednesday's close. It opened in Frankfurt at 2.5080 marks, up from 2.4600 at the closing Monday. It was the highest rate since the mark was revalued up on June 29.

The dollar rate in Zurich was 3.0700 Swiss francs, a rise from 3.0125, while in Paris the rate was 4.375 French francs, a gain of seven centimes.

The price of gold also rose. The London morning fixing price was $96 an ounce, $2 higher than Wednesday's morning fixing and $1.25 above the closing price Wednesday.

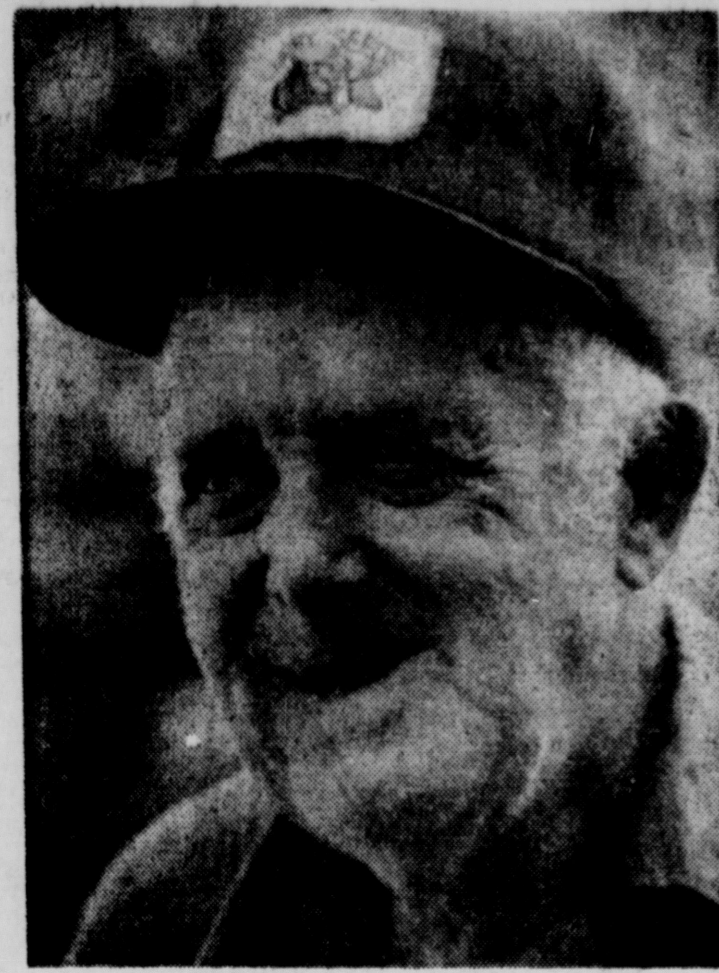

SPCA Session

KINGSTON — There will be a general membership meeting of the Ulster County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals 7:30 p.m. Aug. 28 at the YWCA, 209 Clinton Avenue. The regular membership meeting according to the by-laws of the society is usually scheduled for the first Tuesday in August. However, extenuating circumstances made it necessary to make an exception this year, a SPCA spokesman said.

Marbletown Barbecue

The Marbletown Republican Club annual chicken barbecue will be held 1 to 4 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 19, at the Marbletown Recreation Park, Tongore Road. Events will be held rain or shine. Those attending will bring own tables and chairs. Some tickets are still available by contacting Mrs. Effie Weber, Myron Guthrie or any member.

UNUSUAL HEALTH PROBLEM — Charles Osborne, 79, of Anthon, Iowa, has an unusual health problem. He has hiccupped for 51 years. He says the siege began in the 20's while he was hanging up a 300-pound hog he had just butchered, and the hiccups have remained ever since. Osborne has received remedies from as far-off as Australia and Canada, but his problem persists. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

More Tests By France Expected

PAPEETE, Tahiti (UPI) — the danger of nuclear fallout. France has resumed a close watch over the Mururoa Atoll test site, a further indication that new blasts in its controversial 1973 nuclear test program may not be far off, observers said Wednesday.

A KC135 meteorological plane based on Tahiti resumed its flights Monday, the observers noted, and the flight followed the departure from Papeete harbor of four French naval units—a sign in the past that new tests are imminent.

France's 1973 nuclear tests at aircraft and ships from near Mururoa, about 620 miles southeast of Tahiti, caused international protest because of the danger of nuclear fallout. Among the protesters was an international group aboard the roa Sausalito, Calif., registered yacht Fri, towed last month by the French Navy from the danger zone around Mururoa. Meanwhile, the French Navy maintained its tight surveillance of the Tahiti coast to keep the Fri and another protest yacht, the Spirit of Peace, away.

France has maintained a danger zone around the test site since early July, warning that aircraft and ships from near Mururoa, about 620 miles southeast of Tahiti, caused international protest because of the danger of nuclear fallout. Among the protesters was an international group aboard the roa Sausalito, Calif., registered yacht Fri, towed last month by the French Navy from the danger zone around Mururoa. Meanwhile, the French Navy maintained its tight surveillance of the Tahiti coast to keep the Fri and another protest yacht, the Spirit of Peace, away.

Uncertain Future For ETV

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—After 20 years and millions of state dollars, educational television (ETV) has produced a classroom TV capability that is seldom used and a public television system that lacks co-ordination, according to the Legislative Commission on Expenditure Review.

Based on a report released Tuesday night, the commission has concluded that it is difficult to ascertain what the future of ETV will be.

The state has been deeply involved in both classroom and public programming components of ETV since 1954. The total cost during the 1971-72 fiscal year was estimated by the commission at $29.5 million.

Despite experimental programs that show the use of instructional television could save up to 25 per cent of annual teacher salary costs, the report states that, "after 20 years of use, classroom television at elementary, secondary and higher education levels is still viewed largely as a fad, luxury, or frill. It has not significantly altered the traditional teacher-textbook instruction techniques."

The commission found that while the New York Network

"has an impressive technical capability" as an interconnection between five of the state's seven public television stations, its full statewide production and distribution potential are not being realized because of a lack of meaningful cooperation between the State Education Department, the network and the stations.

Instead, the network has become "an indirect subsidy and a vital form of assistance" to the public TV stations as a direct link with other regional and national TV networks.

The report shows that the most pressing problem facing the state's public TV stations is the declining revenue from school television service programs, under which local school districts pay a subscription fee for the educational TV programs they use in the classroom.

Five of the stations — with Buffalo and Watertown the exceptions — have seen their revenue from schools drop since 1969 as school districts "are unwilling to pay for a service that can be received by anyone having a television set," the commission report said.

Blood Bank Drive Continues in Area

TOWN OF SHANDAKEN
Efforts to recruit Shandaken residents in the Group Program of the Ulster County Blood Bank have been rather anemic to date, according to Mrs. Harry Reese, president of the Public Health Committee and chairman of the Blood Bank.

"Due to summer vacations and an extremely busy time of the year for many seasonal businesses, people just do not take the time to think about what they would do if they needed blood for an operation for themselves or some member of their family," Mrs. Reese said.

There's still time to become a charter member of this latest Town Group to be formed in Ulster County. A doctor and technicians from the Kingston City Laboratory will visit the town hall Thursday, August 28, from 6:30 to 9 p.m. All who enroll by that date will be immediately covered and receive all benefits, including unlimited replacement of blood for elective or emergency surgery in any Ulster County hospital and up to $400 per incident per individual anywhere in the United States.

Michael Leopold

The Other Day

In CORONET Dr. Bergen Evans explained where the expression "drawing a bead" came from. The word bead originally meant a prayer. Then it meant the rosary, later the perforated balls that make up the rosary. Then it passed to any small globular body (as "beads of sweat"), including the metal knob which forms the front sight of a gun. To "draw a bead," meaning to bring this knob in line with the eye and the target, dates from the 1830s in America. Well, our sole aim is to serve to your utmost satisfaction, and with top value!

Tiano - Perri Nuptials

Donna Maria Tiano, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Tiano of New Paltz, became the bride of Armand A. Perri, nephew of Ralph and Louise Valente of Pelham, N.Y., on Sunday, Aug. 5, at St. Peter's Church in Rosendale.

The Rev. Gerard Bliss officiated at the double ring ceremony. Kathleen Kelly, organist, provided traditional wedding selections.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She selected a gown of ivory imported organza fashioned with a fitted bodice of peau d'ange lace, a high neckline and abbreviated flounced sleeves. Floral patterned white lace accented the deep flounce. Ivory satin ribbon encircled the Empire waistline. The gown featured a full draped A-line skirt. Her wide brimmed ivory picture hat which was trimmed with matching white lace and ivory satin ribbon held her cathedral-length, lace-appliqued veil. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and baby's breath.

Rita Bernardo, cousin of the bride, East Greenbush, was matron of honor. Attendants were Michele Tiano, sister of the bride, Poughkeepsie; Linda Tiano, sister-in-law of the bride, Kingston; and Linda Valente of Pelham. Lisa and Mary Jo Tiano, nieces of the bride, Kingston, were flower girls.

Mrs. Bernardo and Mary Jo Tiano wore white polyester voile gowns embellished with floral print in maize and pale nile. The gowns were styled with fitted bodices, scooped necklines, and abbreviated sleeves. The demi-bell skirts featured deep flounces at the hemlines. They wore white picture hats trimmed with floor-length streamers in pale maize.

The attendants and Lisa Tiano wore gowns identical in styling to the honor attendant's except in white and blue printed voile, with white picture hats and blue illusion detailing. All carried arrangements of daisies.

Dennis Barlotto of White Plains was best man. Ushers were Frank Tiano, brother of the bride, Kingston; Louis Perri, brother of the bridegroom, Hopewell Junction; and Ralph Valente, cousin of the bridegroom, Pelham.

A reception was given at Roberto's Restaurant in Port Ewen.

The bride, a 1970 graduate of Rondout Valley High School, is a legal secretary. Her husband, a 1967 alumnus of Pelham Memorial High School, served four years in the U.S. Air Force, earning the rank of sergeant, and is employed by Dual Temp Mechanical Contractors in Peekskill.

Mr. and Mrs. Perri will reside in Wappingers Falls.

The 90-day dollar-fattening diet

If you have $1,000 or more that you're not going to be using in the next 90 days — we can fatten it up for you at 5-3/4% guaranteed annual interest.

That's more than it's earning now if you have it in a regular savings account or a checking account. So if you can spare it for just that short time, why not take advantage of this higher yield?

You have the option to renew — or transfer to a different term plan — when your account matures.

This way, you don't have to worry about tying up your funds for a long period of time.

But if you know right now that you won't need at least $1,000 of your savings for an even longer time, consider the variety of high-yielding Heritage term accounts available to you:

TERM	EFFECTIVE ANNUAL YIELD	GUARANTEED ANNUAL INTEREST
90 days — 1 year	6%	5-3/4%
1 — 2-1/2 years	6.81%	6-1/2%
2-1/2 — 4 years	7.08%	6-3/4%

Federal law permits premature withdrawals on term accounts provided rate of interest on amount withdrawn is reduced to the passbook rate (5-1/4%) and 90 days' interest is forfeited.

Avoid Scene With Gentle Swan Song

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1973 by Chicago Tribune
N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: At my age, I should be giving advice, not asking for it, but I just don't know how to handle this.

My husband passed away two years ago of a terminal illness. While he was sick, his best friend Charlie (a divorced man) was wonderful to both of us, and he promised my husband he would "look after" me.

After my husband's death Charlie helped me in my grief and loneliness, and I transferred the love I had for my husband to him. He's pushing for marriage, but I just don't trust him. I have become suspicious, jealous, and resentful of Charlie. He says he loves me, but he is very often "unreachable," which upsets me. I have caught him in several lies, for which he always has explanations, but I am not convinced.

Every time I try to tell him I want to hold off marrying him, he gets a terrible attack of something. (Asthma or the shingles.) I am so afraid he will die, and I'll be responsible for it.

How can I get out of marrying him without making him sick?

IN A BIND

DEAR IN: Avoid a scene. Gently ease Charlie out of your life. See others and drop him gradually without telling him it's his swan song. It's your neck or his.

DEAR ABBY: I need help soon. My son is engaged to be married. I met his bride-to-be only once. She is a beautiful, rich society girl. I hear they are having a big church wedding. There will be judges, congressmen, governors and all kinds of high-class people there. Abby, I have never been to a wedding like this let alone been IN one.

This is way out of my class. I wish I could say I have a headache at the last minute and ditch the whole thing. I don't know what to wear, and I won't know how to act or what to say. I'm afraid I'll

Polish Night

Members of the White Eagle Benevolent Society are reminded that Polish Night will be held Saturday at White Eagle Hall, Delaware Avenue, Kingston, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. There will be food, beverages and dancing.

Chairman of the event is Ray Stepski, assisted by Carl Janasiewicz. Tickets are available at the Hall.

be a hick from the sticks and I'll embarrass my poor son. I do janitor work in an office building at night, and I just won't fit in with these people.

How can I either learn fast or get out of it?

GROOM'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Be yourself, and you'll do just fine. Ask your son to find out what kind of gown the bride's mother is wearing, and wear one that will go well with hers. (Perhaps your son and his fiancée can help you purchase the dress and accessories.) You need not feel inadequate or embarrassed. After all, you are contributing something to the wedding that is of the utmost importance: The groom!

DEAR ABBY: BUGGED IN THE BRONX, a secretary, complained because her husband called her at work several times daily to talk about nothing. She said she cuts him short, saying she's busy, but he calls right back to finish a long, boring story.

You advised her to keep cutting him shorter and shorter until he gets the message.

It won't work. Here's my advice: Tell him: "No calls at work unless the house is on fire or somebody drops dead." When he continues to call, as he will, do this: When you say: "Hello," and he says: "Hello," you say "Goodbye," and hang up on him before he has a chance to say anything else. When he calls back and says: "You hung up on me," you say: "I know it," and hang up on him again. Nothing else will work.

BEEN THRU IT

DEAR BEEN: If that's not "cutting him shorter and shorter until he gets the message"—what is?

(Hear Dear Abby Mon. thru Sat. at 9:07 a.m. WKNY-1490)

JANET REED, director of Kingston School of Ballet, will be teaching at the Betty Bunce Dance Studio, 288 Wall Street, Kingston, beginning in September. Miss Reed, at right, who met with Betty Bunce, left, to discuss arrangements for the classes, is a former prima ballerina of the New York City Ballet and San Francisco Ballet. She has toured the United States and Europe and has taught at Vassar College, Bard and Point Park College. She has also taught classes for the National Association of Regional Ballet. Miss Reed is a member of the dance panel for the United States Department of State. Many of her students have gone on to professional dance careers. (Freeman photo by Haines)

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I recently visited a friend's apartment (that she shares with a couple other girls) at college and was very impressed with the nifty little storage idea that they had devised for their bathroom.

With this many girls sharing a bath you can imagine how much clutter could result.

They had taken one of those wooden cases that soft drinks (twenty-four bottles) come in and painted the outside of the case yellow and the inside of the little sections orange.

Then they hung the painted case on the wall in the bathroom and there were all those little cubby holes just perfect for storing perfume, lipstick, etc. (All the little bottles that girls find necessary in their bathrooms.)

It was so cute and handy and, besides that, very colorful.

They also told me that some boys they knew used the same idea—however, they didn't hang theirs on the wall, but placed in on the counter and used it for shaving gear, etc. In their case, as in the girls, one medicine cabinet just didn't fill the bill and this extra space was certainly welcomed.

It thought it was a great idea, especially since it was so inexpensive.

LETTER OF LOVE

Dear Heloise:

Thank you for your daily column of sharing, communicating, sympathizing, listening, comforting, and loving us.

I could go on, of course, but I'm not one to be free with my compliments.

Mona B.

I love you more than you'll ever know...

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I use spray starch when I iron, and, since there was no place handy to set it while ironing, I had to keep it on the ironing board and, of course, it was always falling off.

I explained the problem to my husband and it took him about five minutes to solve it.

He attached one of those little bathroom glass holders (the kind that screws into the wall) to the large end of the ironing board (wooden) and the can of spray starch just fit right in it.

Mrs. Pat C.

THIS COLUMN is written for you... the housewife and homemaker. If you have a hint or a problem write to Heloise in care of this newspaper.

Doing the Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST
© 1973 Emily Post Institute, Inc.

Dear Mrs. Post:

Recently my husband and I spent a three-day weekend with friends in their summer home. Here is my problem: My husband says it is proper to present a hostess gift when one first arrives. I say we should send a gift after we leave. I had not bought a gift, so we had to do it my way, but we are still arguing about it. Can you settle it for us?

Mrs. Kaine

Dear Mrs. Kaine:

There are two schools of thought about hostess gifts, and both are correct. Many people think it best to take the gift with them and present it as soon as they arrive.

Personally, I prefer your way of giving a gift after a visit. While staying in the house, I can look for something my hostess needs or wants, and also, I can mention especially pleasant parts of the visit in an accompanying card or note.

Dear Mrs. Post:

Our son has just become engaged and we would like to know how we should get together with his fiancée's parents. They are separated. If it's up to us to make the first move, as I believe it is, how do we go about it?

Neither of her parents had a formal engagement party or made an announcement.

Mrs. Keith

As soon as a young couple have told their parents that they are engaged, the groom's family should call or write to the bride's parents and arrange to "get together." When the girl's mother and father are separated, the call should be made first on the one with whom she is living. Immediately after that, if she is also close to her other parent, a call should be made to him or her.

What is your most puzzling etiquette problem? To the sender of the most interesting question that I receive each week, I will send a free copy of Emily Post's Etiquette. The question chosen, and its answer, will be published in this column. Send your question to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of The Daily Freeman, and don't forget to include your name and address.

Hear better with the finest little hearing aid Zenith has ever made.

RIPE OLIVE SANDWICH SPREAD

Special Summer Sandwich Has Ripe Olive Appeal

A two tiered sandwich with a creamy cheese base, accented with the nutty flavor and satisfying chewiness of the ripe olive, has a seasoned crunchy cole slaw for the second layer. For added interest, slices of cooked ham, rolled for effect, are placed at two corners of the bread slice. Then, a rosy tomato slice topped off with a pitted ripe olive adds the finishing touches to a very special summer sandwich.

Since almost everyone is calorie conscious today, open-face sandwiches are becoming more and more popular. The base of this sandwich is whole wheat bread but white or rye can be just as delicious. While the cream cheese is soft and bland, it's the dark accent and chewy texture of the ripe olive that adds the special visual and appetite appeal.

Ripe olives are handy helpers at all times. Canned for convenience in nine sizes, they are ready for instant use. Since the larger sizes are more expensive, it is wise to use them for out-of-hand eating and marinating for appetizers or relish trays. The smaller sizes are just right for adding to sauces, meat, poultry, and fish dishes. Chopped and sliced are just right for adding to sandwich fillings, stuffings, salad dressing, and many other uses.

Sandwich Spread

One-half cup canned pitted California ripe olives
One (eight-ounce) package cream cheese
Two tablespoons mayonnaise
One teaspoon prepared mustard
One-fourth teaspoon onion powder
One-sixteenth teaspoon pepper
Three tablespoons finely chopped celery
One tablespoon chopped pimiento
Drain ripe olives; chop olives coarsely. Soften cream cheese; add mayonnaise, mustard, onion powder and pepper to softened cheese and mix well. Stir in ripe olives, celery and pimiento. Makes one and one-half cups spread.

Sandwich Slaw

Two and one-half cups finely shredded cabbage
Three tablespoons chopped sweet pickle
Two tablespoons chopped green onion
One and one-half tablespoons salad oil
One and one-half teaspoons vinegar
One-half teaspoon seasoned salt
One-fourth teaspoon paprika
Dash pepper
Mix together cabbage, pickle and onion. Stir together salad oil, vinegar, salt, paprika, pepper and pour over cabbage mixture. Mix together lightly but thoroughly. Makes two cups (enough for 6 sandwiches).

Marinate for Fresh, Wilt-Proof Salad

A wilt-proof salad is welcome for serving with outdoor barbecues or for family and church outings. A quick Marinated Vegetable salad requires only an hour or two of marinating time. It keeps well, if there is any leftover, and you may add more vegetables and dressing to stretch the dish for a later meal.

QUICK MARINATED VEGETABLE SALAD

One envelope (6 ounces) Italian salad dressing mix
Three tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
One package (ten ounces) frozen cauliflower

One package (9 ounce) frozen cut green beans
Two cups sliced zucchini
One green pepper cut into strips
One red pepper cut into strips
One can (Three and one half ounces) pitted ripe olives, drained

Prepare salad dressing mix as label directs, adding Worcestershire sauce, cook cauliflower and green beans, drain and chill. In a large bowl combine cauliflower, green beans, zucchini, green pepper, red pepper and olives. Pour salad dressing over vegetables. Toss well. Cover and chill for 1 or 2 hours, stirring occasionally. Makes 6 to 8 portions. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

SUMMER FRUITS AND VEGETABLES WELCOME

Many summer fruits and vegetables are expected to be more plentiful than last year, but prices for them are not likely to be any lower. Increased production costs, strong consumer buying, a later season, and the general inflation tend to keep prices high, says Louise K. Breitung, Extension Home Economist.

Wet weather has left its mark on several crops. In some sections of the country planting had to be delayed, resulting in later production. In other areas rain hit so hard as to virtually wash out plantings. Some farmers have turned from replanting tomatoes, for example, to planting their acreage with soybeans. When shopping for fruits and vegetables, check quality carefully.

Fruits to shop for — Considerably more pears will be coming to market than a year ago. The western states of Washington, Oregon, and California are expected to produce nearly a fifth more Bartlett pears, a summer favorite. Unlike most fruits, Bartlett pears are picked and shipped to market while still green. If allowed to ripen on the tree they will not develop the fine flavor and smooth texture that comes when they ripen off the tree at temperatures between 50 and 60 degrees Fahrenheit.

About a fourth more apricots are predicted, many of which will be canned to replenish severely depleted stocks. California prunes are forecast to be twice as plentiful as last year. Many of these may also be processed. Expect to find fresh prunes at the market around the middle of August. More sweet, juicy plums are also available this summer than last.

Production of grapes in California is expected to be nearly two-thirds greater than last year and the largest since 1965. There will be plenty of the varieties that are processed into raisins, as well as Thompson Seedless, the popular green summer grape, and other table varieties.

Early summer apples come to market in August and include such varieties as Summer Pippin, Twenty Ounce, Lodi, Transparents, Wealthy, Starr, Julyred, and Earliblaze. The fruit has developed good size and color. These apples typically have a tart flavor and make excellent pies and sauce.

More melons to enjoy — Cantaloups, honeydews, and watermelons should be more plentiful, although not less costly, than a year earlier. Acreage of cantaloups is up 10 percent, largely in California and Arizona. However, production is expected to be about the same as last year in these areas because poor weather has interfered with growth.

Honeydews will be a little later, than normal because rainy weather delayed planting. Supplies should peak later in August and through September.

Watermelons are also about 10 days late due to heavy rains in most production areas. Seasonally abundant supplies should be available through August.

More summer vegetables — Farmers have planted more summer vegetables this year and supplies are anticipated to be a little larger than last summer. Included in the group that are expected to be more abundant are snap beans, broccoli, cauliflower, celery, sweet corn, cucumbers, eggplant, lettuce, and green peppers. Several vegetables will come to market later than usual due to delays in planting caused by heavy rains and cool temperatures earlier.

Good year for sweet corn — Hot, humid weather has benefited the sweet corn crop this summer. Supplies from New Jersey will be heavy through mid-August and moderate into September. New York sweet corn from the Hudson Valley will be plentiful during August and continue until frost. Sweet corn is one vegetable that does not keep its sweetness for very long. Buy corn as needed, keep it cool, and cook it as soon as possible.

FOOLISH FRIDAY SILLY SATURDAY

A 2-DAY BONANZA FOR BARGAIN HUNTERS

FRIDAY 9 AM TO 9 PM, SATURDAY 9 TO 5:30 PM

Check out that headline! It just about sums up the whole ball of wax... then look over the following... but only if you are up to bargain ferreting... FOOLISH? Maybe we were foolish to buy some of this stuff... but on the other hand, maybe we're silly to let it go at these ridiculous prices... All summer long we kept accumulating hundreds of "odds-and-ends" bargains for a big special "Clear-Away" sale before the fall season. We're jammed to the gills with virtually hundreds of super bargains which we want to sell at once. So we're running a really "super" 2-day sale Friday & Saturday. If you need furniture, bedding, floor coverings or anything for your home... NOW is your chance to save more than ever AND STANDARD is the place to make it your most profitable weekend of the whole year. We guarantee it... YOU BE THE JUDGE! It's just a 2-day PRICE CHOPPING DEAL!... After that, if by some chance there's anything left, (at these silly prices) we take 'em off the floors and ship it to our warehouse outlet. Altho we have room to list only a few of the SPECTACULAR "BUYS" you can bet your rent money there's a store full of SURPRISES for you. So let's go! How's this for a "Starter": 4 pc bedroom suites in modern or colonial styling at $118 (at today's prices the lumber alone is worth this), but we only have 12, so hurry. And while we're in the bedroom, get your innerspring twin size mattresses at $28 if you're here early. Maybe we're silly to sell at these prices in face of today's conditions (and you know what we mean) but while these present stocks hold out, let the chips fall where they may. Our buyer is an American history nut so he stocked us up with 5 Pc Colonial Dinettes (round table and 4 mates chairs) which can make you equally patriotic at $118, and you can chose Maple or Pine finish, to boot! He bought some modern 2 pc living room suites—but the customers didn't (at regular prices) so you now can have a modern 2 pc living room suite at $138... or if you want a 2 pc sofabled living room suite (which opens to an extra bed, perhaps for when your mother-in-law visits you), we'll add 3 tables and 2 lamps for a complete 7 pc outfit at $148. How about a beautiful triple dresser bedroom with big mirror, chest and headboard that once proudly sold at $450 now at $299 just because it's antique white. And for your kitchen—modern 5 pc dinettes for $48 (or if you have a batch of kids, a 7 pc set at $68). How about a bunch of bunching tables in groovy black or white plastic that are almost indestructible at $3.88 (that's right $3.88). Then there is a big lot of custom-crafted 2-pc living room suites (sofas and matching chairs) in Modern, Early American, Mediterranean or Provincial Styling, all superbly upholstered and each at $268 regardless of original price tags. Or big luxurious lounge chairs by themselves (left over from expensive suites) now at HALF PRICE! Our buyer went romantic and stocked up on recliners with a lush velvet upholstery. He tagged them $99.95... now they're tagged $58. (or if you prefer a heavy leather-like vinyl recliner, it's yours at same $58.). Our table buyer ordered Mersman tables by the truckload but he let his enthusiasm run away with him so now you can take your pick of these "lovelies" in Maple, Walnut or Oak finish at 1/3 off. Or modern step-end tables that are collecting dust at $5.88 each! But what's a table without a snazzy lamp? You can pick yours from a wide array at half price (even if you don't buy a table!) Remember the old pioneers? Well we have on 8 pc Wagon Wheel bunk bed outfit in rich Salem Maple finish (complete with bedding) at $98 (only 24 to go). Our buyer "went bananas" on the new fake fur upholstery (some call it "Fun Fur") which looks like a million bucks but only $398 to you for a sofa and chair, or 3 pc sectional that is really beautiful! Our warehouse manager started to yell he needs room, so we're closing out a batch of 7 pc Aluminum Cookware Sets at $4.88 (for all 7 pcs). And an automatic electric percolator with 7 pc table set for $4.88. And Record Cabinets at $19.88... And Hope Storage Chests at $29.88... And Boston Rockers at $19.88. Talk about bargains! How about a crib and spring for $24.88 for the younger set? We also got a bunch of sewing machines and we want you to have one at $38. Need a chrome and fiberglass chair for your kitchen or patio or game room. Take as many as you need at $3.88 (even tho they carry a $14.95 tag). Keep your clothes moth-free in a 2-door Cedar Wardrobe at $48 (while they last). Pick up a Full or Queen Size headboard (various styles) at HALF PRICE... or night tables left from expensive suites at HALF PRICE! Or Platform Rockers and Chairs in Mediterranean Styling at HALF PRICE! We could go on and on but have room to list but a fraction of the hundreds of savings in every Standard Store. A big 210 lb. Freezer Chest at $179... or a 4 cycle automatic push-button washer at $158. Even a modern compact gas range with a big oven at $128! Back to the Colonial Era... with a beautiful Sofa Sleeper in an Early American Scotchguard Print at $228 (70 less than you'd usually pay.) Or a 3 cushion Colonial Sofa at same price! Cover your home with pictures and wall plaques for every taste and budget at HALF PRICE! (Come see for yourself) Take $100 off a Colonial Triple Dresser Bedroom Suite in rich Pine with Hutch mirror, chest and Cannonball Bed—all for $398. We got a few regular $579.95 Dining Room Suites collecting dust... so now they're $399. (Choose Mediterranean, French Provincial, Italian Provincial—so you have no excuse but to check these out!) And, by the way, before we overlook it—look at these rug "buys": 9x12 nylon broadloom rugs at $39.88... or nylon broadloom if you want a wall-to-wall room at $2.99 sq. yd. for the carpet. For your Colonial Room, how about a delightful 9x12 (approx) oval braided rug at $59.99 when we include a matching 6x9 and two matching 2x3's. (All 4 for $59.99) We can't offer you a Mediterranean Cruise, but if your hankering is for the Spanish Scene, we can give you a $129.75 Swivel Rocker for $78... or a magnificent Spanish designed sofa with 2 matching chairs beautifully upholstered at $398. And speaking of beautiful upholstery we have sofas and matching chairs (2 pc Suites) in lush velvet in the traditional styling at $348. Or a modern styled 2 pc living room in heavy tweeds at $188 (or sofa and chair!) Remember, these are only a very few of the hundreds of bargains Friday and Saturday at Standard. But please come early for best buys. All sales final, of course, and all items subject to prior sale on a "first come" basis. Of course there's no charge for credit plus free delivery, even at these prices! Come see, come save at Standard.

NO CHARGE FOR CREDIT

HUD Waiver Sought as Only Two Submit Pike Plan Bids

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON
Only two bids were received Wednesday for another phase of the Uptown Kingston Pike Plan restoration project.

Even though the federal government requires three bids, Urban Renewal Director James G. Connors said he is optimistic that Housing and Urban Development Corporation will waive the requirement and allow the acceptance of one of the bids made by a Newburgh or Stone Ridge firm.

Low bidder for the installation of new sidewalks and curbs, planting of trees, construction of bench areas and light installations was Axel Johansen Construction Corp. of Stone Ridge, the present contractor on the site. Johansen bid $187,335.93 compared with $196,769 bid by Jacobs and Odendahl of Newburgh. Connors said that nine sets of plans were in the hands of various contractors. But, he explained, the project is a difficult thing to bid because it is unprecedented. He said he hopes for a decision on the bid waiver from HUD very quickly because there is a 75-day calendar limit on the job which means it would have to be begun Sept. 1 in order to be completed by Thanksgiving and in preparation for Christmas shoppers.

Johansen bid the project as follows: bluestone curbing, $11,378.44; brick sidewalk, $26,307; bluestone sidewalk, five-foot wide, $53,116; bluestone sidewalk, random size, $32,609; reinforced slab, $4,000; planting pockets six by six foot, $11,700; planting pockets, four by eight foot, $1,690; rainwater trenches, $8,608.89; relocate catch basin, $780; continuous footing, $11,365.29; lamp posts, $9,602; lanterns, $3,332; conduit wires, $4,753; lamp post bases, $4,879; honey locust trees, $2,714.40; flowering crabapples, $1,508.

The bid opening was attended by Percy Gazlay, project coordinator; Architect Albert Miliken and businessmen Clifford Bunting and Ted Weiner.

The agency is already involved in the construction of canopies on the east side of Wall Street as part of the Pike Plan. The bid price on that project was $146,000.

Connors said the agency has no cost estimates on the street work on Wall Street but it would be part of the agency's $500,000 commitment to the Pike Plan. According to Connors, bluestone sidewalks will be installed on Wall Street with bluestone curbing. The new lights will be in Colonial style. Bar to lights already put up on Green Street. The bench areas will be built up brick with bluestone covering, similar to those in the minipark in front of the Uptown Parking Garage. Plans are also being completed for canopy work on the other side of Wall Street from John Street to North Front Street. The Pike Plan, devised by Woodstock artist John Pike, was approved by the agency in 1970 and envisions the renovation of the Uptown Shopping District into a turn of the 19th century motif. It has had the solid support of property owners in the area who are carrying out restoration on their individual buildings. The Pike Plan will include canopied storefronts, miniparks, shade trees and benches in the heart of the uptown business district. When completed, its supporters say it will restore much of the charm and dignity that graced the Wall Street area during the turn of the century. The plan was first presented at a meeting of the Uptown Businessmen's Association in 1969 and met with immediate acceptance. The presentation was made by Fred Johnston, then chairman of the Kingston Landmarks Preservation Commission. Johnston hailed the plan as "an example of creative imagination." The project was planned in several stages in order to show the businessmen in the area what could be done.

Addresses Marbletown Democrats

Majestic Calls for Defeat of County Reapport

By CARL GRAHAM

STONE RIDGE
George Majestic, Town of Gardiner supervisor, called Wednesday night for defeat of the county reapportionment plan in the November election.

Majestic, speaking at the Democratic Committee meeting at Ivan's Restaurant on Route 209, said he favored instead a single-member districting plan, with county legislators elected from uniformly sized districts of approximately 4,280 persons each. Majestic said that approval of Local Law No. 2 in November would discriminate against all minority groups, insure the election of candidates who were responsible only to party bosses, and weaken home rule, especially in such districts as the 8th, with 30,160 residents.

"Multi-member districting gives control to party bosses," he told the committee. "With single-member districts you are right there on top of the man you select. The smaller the district, the more they have to cater to you."

Majestic, who has held the Gardiner supervisor's post for 18 years, has previously run for the County Legislature, the State Assembly, and the State Senate. Despite his defeats at the county and state level, the Gardiner Democrat has held onto the supervisor post for nine terms in a town where the enrolled Republican majority has been as high as 7 to 1.

Majestic, a pre-legislature member of the Board of Supervisors, said that body had no trouble maintaining close ties with the people it represented. "The supervisors were directly responsible to their people," he said, maintaining that the multi-member districting plan called for by the reapportionment would do away with such close ties between the legislators and their constituents and make lawmakers liable to party bosses instead. Majestic also ridiculed claims that the plan would bring together towns with common interests. He cited a case from his own district as an example, saying that the Town of New Paltz contains the only college in the district. "No other town has anything like the problems presented by a college," he said.

He called on Marbletown Democrats to organize public information meetings on the reapportionment proposal, calling it the only real issue in the November election. He said that panel discussions should include both supporters and opponents of reapportionment, and that the public should be given the opportunity to ask questions of both sides.

Majestic also called on the League of Women Voters, traditionally a non-partisan group, to support single-member districting.

"This is a case of good government, not partisan politics," he said. He challenged supporters of the reapportionment plan to a public debate on the issue.

"This should be brought out in the open so people will know what they are voting on in November," he said.

GEORGE MAJESTIC

Pageant Is Commissioned

The Kingston Bicentennial Commission has named Bill Skilling program director of radio station WGHQ, to produce a pageant commemorating the burning of Kingston by the British two centuries ago.

The pageant, a part of the local celebration of the nation's bicentennial, will be produced in 1977, just 200 years after the city was put to the torch by British troops, Edward Levine, chairman of the Commission, said it is hoped to make the pageant an annual event on a scale that would help attract visitors to the Kingston area each year.

Skilling, descended from a theatrical family, has had extensive dramatic experience in radio, television, vaudeville, and summer theatre. He recently completed 10 years as resident director of the Kingston Coach House Players and directed a production of John Van Druten's "I Am A Camera" for the Performing Arts of Woodstock.

In other business conducted at the Commission's monthly meeting Wednesday night, Frank Garelick of Red Hook brought in a reduced scale representation of his sculpture, "The Crucifixion of the Earth," for the Commission's consideration as part of the continuing bicentennial celebration. Levine said that the sculpture, a cast bronze 12 feet in diameter, represents the ravaging of the earth by pollution. He said the original work, which has been on display in Washington, D.C., and the Dutchess County Fair, might become the focal point of a small park after the bicentennial ends.

Zero Population Group Has Film Available

POUGHKEEPSIE
Mid-Hudson Zero Population Growth has announced that the film "Population and the American Future" is available for showings in area schools and colleges.

Teachers may preview the film by attending a public showing Sept. 18 at the Marist College Theater, to start at 8 p.m.

The hour long film summarizes the Official Report of the National Commission on Population Growth and the American Future.

That commission was created in 1969 by Congress at the request of President Nixon, who pointed out that one of the most "urgent problems in the last third of this century will be the growth of the population."

The film, in two 30-minute segments, is suitable for those of junior high school age and above. Upon request, a speaker may accompany the film and lead discussion.

Arrangements for showing may be made by contacting Mid-Hudson Zero Population Growth, 12 Noxon Street, Poughkeepsie.

STAY RIGHT HERE — Yankee catcher Thurmon Munson is draped across Vada Pinson as the Angel outfielder scores in first inning of game in New York City Wednesday. Bob Oliver singled Pinson home. Angels won, 3-1. (UPI)

All the Attention Centers on Llenas

NEW YORK (UPI) — Winston Llenas seemed embarrassed when he found himself surrounded by the flower of the New York communications media Wednesday after driving in the winning run in the California Angels' 3-1 victory over the Yankees.

Llenas' tie-breaking eighth-inning single was his 13th pinch-hit of the season and presented Steve Barber, now 17-11 lifetime against the Yankees, with his second victory of the season. Sandy Alomar followed Llenas' tie-breaker with another run-scoring single to nail down the win.

"I don't want to sound pretentious," said Llenas, who looks more like a high school boy than a major league baseball player. "I don't feel I'm doing anything special although pinch-hitting is tougher than hitting when you're in the game.

"It is a challenge but nothing special," he went on in answer to a question. "It's a challenge every time you put on the uniform. I'm an early swinger—I like that first pitch because it's over the plate so often. Concentration has a lot to do with it. You have to keep watching the game even though you're not in it.

"Sure, I'd like to play regularly," he said. "But when you contribute in any way, it makes you feel good."

The Angels' two eighth-inning runs were unearned because of a throwing error by third baseman Graig Nettles, who is known in some New York circles as E-5. It paved the way for Mel Stottlemyre's 11th loss against 12 victories but the Yankees ace really didn't have much to complain about. He was pushing the ball much of the time and was lucky that he went into the Angels' eighth with a 1-1 tie.

The Yankees now start a road trip with their prestige as American League Eastern Division contenders at a low ebb but they're not out of the race by a long shot, according to California strikeout king Nolan Ryan.

"I like them," said Ryan. "It'll be close and Baltimore looks good right now. But I think they're still the team to beat. If they tighten up their defense a little and win more consistently against the teams in their own division, they should come out on top."

Barber went 7-13 in his last 10 games with Monty Montezudo pitching the last 1-2-3 innings to receive credit for his second save.

... Orioles 5, Rangers 1

The Washington Senators moved to Texas but couldn't get away from Dave McNally.

They may be the Texas Rangers to most, but to McNally they're the Texas Patriots. "I'll admit I've done some good pitching against this team," said McNally in an understatement after whipping Texas 5-1 Wednesday night for his 17th straight victory over the Rangers.

McNally started his winning streak in 1968, when the team was in Washington. He can't explain it, only enjoy it.

McNally had a no-hitter going until Toby Harrah led off the seventh inning with a single. The only other hit off the Baltimore left-hander was a home run by Bill Sudakis in the eighth.

The victory moved Baltimore into first place in the American League East, one-half game over Detroit.

In the other American League games, the Kansas City Royals stopped the Cleveland Indians 5-1; the Milwaukee Brewers nipped the Chicago White Sox 5-4 and the Minnesota Twins downed the Detroit Tigers 9-7. Rain postponed Oakland at Boston.

Royals 5, Indians 1

Al Fitzmorris scattered seven hits for his fifth straight victory since his recall from the minors to lead Kansas City to a 5-1 verdict over Cleveland.

Brewers 5, White Sox 4

A bases-loaded sacrifice fly by John Briggs in the ninth inning scored Dave May and carried Milwaukee over Chicago 5-4.

Twins 9, Tigers 7

Larry Hise's two-run homer in the eighth inning powered Minnesota to a 9-7 success over Detroit. Before Hise won the game for the Twins, the Tigers had tied it 7-7 in the top of the eighth on Ed Brinkman's home run.

Sports

The victory snapped a four-game losing skid by the Mets and though they are in last place in the National League East, they trail division-leading St. Louis by only 7 1/2 games, prompting Seaver and Manager Yogi Berra to echo words of confidence.

"We're still not out of it," said Berra and Seaver chimed in "maybe we're on our way. It's gonna be a fun flight back (to New York)."

The Mets played long ball with San Diego starter Steve Arlin (7-11) and reliever Vicente Romo.

Wayne Garrett socked Arlin's opening pitch for his ninth homer. Jerry Grote capped a five-run fourth inning with his first homer of the season and first grand slam of his career. And Cleon Jones spanked a homer off Romo to complete the Mets' scoring in the fifth.

Reds 1, Pirates 0

There were nearly 21,000 people in the Three Rivers Stadium stands Wednesday night. There were two outs in the bottom of the eighth inning, and Cincinnati's Jack Billingham was facing one of baseball's most feared hitters — Pittsburgh's Willie Stargell.

There was no score, and a bad pitch to Stargell could have meant disaster.

With the less-threatening Rich Zisk on deck, Reds manager Sparky Anderson decided to gamble and walk Stargell intentionally.

The idea paid off for the Reds, as Zisk tapped harmlessly.

Seaver Two-Hits Them

Padres Were Great Hosts

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The San Diego Padres threw a going away party for the New York Mets Wednesday night and the guest of honor was Tom Seaver.

The Padres were excellent hosts, troubling "Tom Terrific" with only two hits, both of the infield variety, as the Mets won 7-0.

"They were hitting the ball but right at our guys," said Seaver, who has yet to pitch a no-hitter in the major leagues though he has four one-hitters and now has five two-hitters.

"I'm really not concerned with the no-hitter. The real concern is getting the shutout. I'm sure I'll be happy if I ever get it but I didn't mind tonight."

The only hits off Seaver, winner of six of his last seven starts and now with a career record of 14-1 against the Padres, were a fifth inning single by Derrel Thomas which glanced off the pitcher's glove and a high bounce to deep short by Jerry Morales in the sixth.

Seaver's 1973 record is 15-6 and he figures to get 10 more starts in the search for 20 victories but he's not looking beyond his next outing.

"Right now I'm thinking of 16 (wins). I'm taking them one at a time," said Seaver who logged his third shutout of the season and 24th of his career. He lowered his league-leading ERA to 1.77 and his seven strikeouts upped his season's total to 182, six more than Steve Carlton of Philadelphia.

in front of the plate and was thrown out to end the inning. Then Cincinnati scored a run in the ninth to defeat the Pirates 1-0 for Billingham's seventh shutout of the season.

In other National League games, the Atlanta Braves crushed the staggering Chicago Cubs 15-1; the San Francisco Giants bombed the Philadelphia Phillies 11-2; the Houston Astros shut out the slumping St. Louis Cardinals 3-0, and the Los Angeles Dodgers downed the Montreal Expos 7-2.

Braves 15, Cubs 1

Darrell Evans cracked his 34th home run of the season and Dave Johnson added his 32nd to highlight the 19-hit Atlanta attack that sent the reeling Cubs to their 10th consecutive loss and the 32nd in their last 42 games. Evans' homer tied him with Stargell for the major league lead.

Giants 11, Phillies 2

San Francisco powered Juan Marichal to his 237th career victory, making him the winningest active pitcher in the major leagues. Marichal and Bob Gibson of the St. Louis Cardinals had been tied for the lead, but Willie McCovey's three-run homer in the first inning gave Marichal all the runs he needed to take over the top spot.

Astros 3, Cards 0

Run-scoring doubles by Cesar Cedeno and Don Watson in the sixth inning supported a five-hitter by Jerry Reuss.

Another highlight was provided by Jim Wynn's spectacular catch of a Mike Tyson drive in the St. Louis second inning. He gloved the looping line drive with two men on and one out to save the shutout.

Dodgers 7, Expos 2

Bill Buckner homered, doubled and singled, scored two runs and led Los Angeles over Montreal. Don Sutton and Jim Brewer combined to help the Dodgers maintain their 2 1/2 game lead over the Reds in the League's Western Division.

With and Against Green(e) and White

By United Press International

John Reaves will be wearing the green and white of the Philadelphia Eagles tonight and hoping to avoid the Greene and White of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

New Coach Mike McCormack will start the second-year quarterback against the American Conference Central Division champions and two of the biggest obstacles Reaves will have to overcome will be Joe Greene and Dwight White.

Greene, the Steelers' 6-foot-4, 275-pound defensive tackle, was named Lineman of the Year and Defensive Player of the Year last season in the AFC. White, a 6-5, 255-pound defensive end, was named All-Conference and starred in the Pro Bowl.

Both rate among the best pass rushers in the game and young Reaves will be put to a stern test behind an inexperienced line. Roman Gabriel, acquired from Los Angeles in the off-season but a flop thus far in pre-season play, probably will quarterback the second half.

The Eagles were clobbered 45-21 by Cincinnati last week after a 13-0 victory over Buffalo and Reaves' play was one of the few bright spots. He directed the Eagles to three second-half touchdowns and just missed a fourth.

Steelers Coach Chuck Noll, whose club opened with an impressive 34-7 victory over Baltimore before bowing 10-6 to Minnesota last week, will go with his regulars a good part of the way. Terry Bradshaw will start at quarterback but Noll is undecided whether Terry Hanratty or Joe Gilliam will relieve him.

Franco Harris, Pittsburgh's star running back and Rookie of the Year in the AFC last season, is expected to play after missing the Minnesota game with a leg injury.

The Pittsburgh-Philadelphia game tonight at Veterans Stadium begins a four-day pro football weekend. On Friday night, Washington is at Buffalo while on Saturday Baltimore meets Detroit in Memphis. St. Louis is at Denver, Houston takes on Green Bay at Milwaukee, Minnesota is at Kansas City, Chicago at Miami, New England at Atlanta, New Orleans at Dallas and Oakland plays Los Angeles at Berkeley, Calif.

On Sunday, the New York Giants take on the New York Jets at New Haven, Conn., Cleveland plays Cincinnati at Columbus, Ohio, and San Diego is at San Francisco.

In news from the camps Wednesday, Giant Coach Alex Webster announced that Norm Sneed, the NFC's leading passer last season, would start at quarterback against the Jets. Sneed is battling Randy Johnson for the starting job.

Kuhn's Plea A Failure

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and American League owners, their hopes for inter-league play next year blocked by the National League, broke up the summer meetings today visibly disappointed but still hopeful for the future.

Kuhn appeared before the major league executive council and made a personal and passionate plea for a limited number of inter-league games—something he felt would stimulate fan interest.

But, he failed to shake the unanimity of the National League against the revolutionary plan that would have each American League team playing one National League team in a four-game, home-and-home series.

"We still feel the same way," one National League official said after separate sessions of the two leagues Wednesday. "I didn't notice any sentiment for inter-league play. We don't need it."

Milwaukee Brewers' President Allan "Bud" Selig, a member of the special committee on inter-league play, still planned to present his proposal to the closing session of the summer major league meetings, but it was doubtful if the issue would be forced.

The question was whether the American League would seek to force Kuhn to cast a tie-breaking vote. Under the rules of baseball, with both leagues deadlocked the way they are, Kuhn would have the authority to decide.

"Maybe that's what we're waiting for," said one official. "Maybe we want the commissioner to stand up and insist on voting on this issue."

Dallas Advances

IRVING, Tex. (UPI) — Goalie Ken Cooper battled a late surge and Kyle Rote Jr. scored the game's only goal Wednesday night to pace the Dallas Tornado to a 1-0 victory over the New York Cosmos in a North American Soccer League playoff game.

Rote, the first American ever to lead the league in scoring, connected on a leaping header in the 17th minute to put Dallas into the championship game against the winner of this weekend's Philadelphia-Toronto game.

But Cooper had to fight off the Cosmos' rally with a series of blocks late in the game. "What a goalkeeper this Cooper is," said teammate Dick Hall. "He helped us so much with those high balls, where there is no room for error."

New York was the defending champion while Dallas won the title two years ago.

OFFICIAL NEW YORK STATE INSPECTION STATION

ENTER THE U. S. — U. S. team starts onto field passing under Russian red star Wednesday during opening ceremonies of the World University Games in Moscow, Russia. The nearly 300 members of the U. S. delegation were greeted with a loud burst of applause from the 80,000 spectators as they filed out in their white slacks and blue blazers. (UPI)

U.S. Cagers Attempt To Find Lost Prestige

MOSCOW (UPI) — The U.S. basketball team, unbeaten after 11 games in Eastern Europe, began its quest today for a gold medal in the seventh World University Games.

The Games officially opened Wednesday night with a 61-nation parade of colors marked by loud boing of the Israeli delegation.

The U.S. cagers, led by All-American David Thompson of North Carolina State, met Britain in the first round of competition. At stake in the end, however, is the pride and prestige of the United States, which lost at these Games four years ago and then was shattered in the dispute-marred Olympic competition at Munich last summer.

Thompson, a unanimous All-American selection during N.C. State's 25-0 season this past year, led all scorers with 20 points per game in the Americans' sweep of teams from Poland, Bulgaria and Czechoslovakia.

The gala and colorful opening ceremonies, held at rain-drenched Lenin Stadium before nearly 30,000 persons, were clouded by a chorus of boos and whistles directed at the 32-member Israeli delegation, one of two participating contingents not having diplomatic relations with the Soviets.

The other nation, South Korea, was received with no noticeable favor pro or con. North Korea is boycotting the Games because of the participation of its southern neighbor.

The rain, which caused the processions of flag bearers, bands and nations to dodge numerous puddles on the Stadium infield sod, cut short a fireworks display at the ceremony's finale but not before a youthful Soviet track and field star, Ludmila Zharkova, lit the traditional Games torch.

The 300-strong U.S. contingent, dressed in blue blazers with white pants, was led by two-time Olympic gold medalist winner Cathy Carr, a swimmer from Albuquerque, N.M. Miss Carr, 18, captured Olympic titles in both the 100-meter breaststroke and 400-meter medley relay in the 1972 Summer Games at Munich.

Premier Alexei N. Kosygin headed the representation of Kremlin leaders at the ceremonies while Leonid I. Brezhnev, Communist Party General Secretary, sent a message of greeting praising the Games as "serving a noble goal of expanding international sports relations."

Although competition actually began prior to the opening ceremonies Wednesday with preliminary rounds in fencing, the bulk of events were getting underway today with track and field, tennis and gymnastics in addition to basketball on the schedule.

Dedicated Cazzie Could Be Golf Pro

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (UPI) — Dedication is what makes Golden State Warrior forward Cazzie Russell the superb basketball player he is and that same quality has made him a golfer with professional potential.

"Cazzie definitely has the potential to be a tour golfer," said Steve Downey, the pro at Kutscher's Country Club where Russell is favored to win the $12,500 Dubonnet golf tournament for pro basketball players. "He takes his golf as seriously as he does his basketball."

"He works hard at it," Downey said. "He's out on the course every day at 8 a.m. practices for three hours and then runs for about an hour. Then he plays basketball for a few hours and he may play nine or 18 holes at night. He's been playing for five years and when he first came to me, he was shooting between 80.90. Now he's capable of shooting 72.76 on any golf course, any day."

Russell said he's been a seven-handicap golfer for a long time but for this tournament he was given a four-handicap. "Someone must think I'm a hustler," he said.

He had a difficult time before defeating Bill Van Breda Koff at two extra holes of match play in the first round and he'll face Kansas City Omaha's ageless wonder Johnny Green in the second round of nine holes today. Green beat Denver's Ralph Simpson in the opening round after three extra holes.

"Everyone thinks I've got this tournament wrapped up," Russell said. "But there are some pretty good golfers here."

Big Jim Loscutt, the former Boston Celtic "hatchetman," appears to be one of those about whom Russell was referring. The 6-foot-9, 250-pounder whipped three opponents Wednesday to become the only player to advance to the semifinals as steady rain halted play before many were able to finish their rounds. Jack Marin of the Houston Rockets, another highly-regarded golfer, was still alive after two rounds as he beat Dolph Schayes and Larry Brown. Other winners were Kevin Loughery, Doug Moe, George Irvine and Ralph Kaplowitz.

Bob Rosburg Suspended

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bob Rosburg, a former PGA champion known as one of the most outspoken players on the pro golf tour, won't play for the next three weeks because of an unproven charge that Billy Casper cheated in winning the Western Open last month.

"Rosburg's remarks raised question as to the diligence of players and TPD (PGA Tournament Players Division) officials in applying the rules of golf," said Joe Dey, co-sponsor of the TPD, who announced Rosburg's three-week suspension Wednesday.

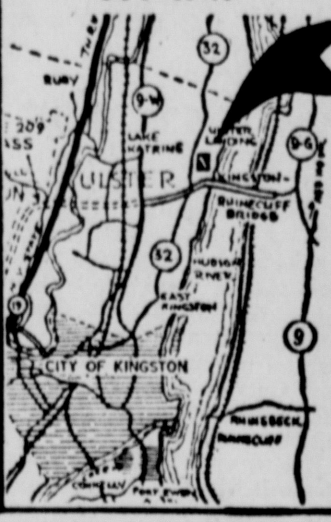

Rosburg will not be allowed to play in the USI Classic at Sutton, Mass., which began today, next week's L&M Open at Raleigh, N.C., and the following week's Greater Hartford Open. The three tournaments offer a total of $650,000 in prize money.

Clowns Will Play Friday

Rain and wet grounds, which would have turned their baseball into a water ballet, forced the Indianapolis Clowns to postpone Wednesday night's Dietz Stadium appearance against the Kingston Braves.

But local fans anxious to see the famed diamond performers will get another chance Friday night at 8:45 p.m. That's the new date for the Clowns' local stop as announced by Braves' General Manager Fred Davi.

Seagren, Schenk Lead Superstars

ROTONDA, Fla. (UPI) — Pole vaulter Bob Seagren and Dutch speed skater Ard Schenk were the big winners Wednesday in the windup of an $82,000 contest.

Seagren, winner of the first Superstars event earlier this year, took one division of a semi-final series of contests leading to a February final round worth about $142,000, and Schenk took the other division.

Seagren finished with 51.5 points and won $10,000 for being first plus $100 per point.

In the same division, Boston Celtics basketball star John Havlicek was second with 35 points, good for a $5,000, and Los Angeles Lakers star Jim McMillan won the $2,500 third prize with 32 points.

In the other division, with equal prizes for the top three places plus $100 per point for all contestants, Schenk was first with 49.5 points, skier Karl Schranz of Austria was second with 38.5 and Montreal Canadiens hockey player Yvan Cournoyer was third with 31 points.

Seagren was in first place in overall points heading into final events Wednesday. He wound up the winner of an obstacle course race and earlier had won a weightlifting contest and the half-mile run.

Schenk finished first Wednesday in his division's one-mile bike race and placed second in the obstacle race. He earlier won the 100-yard dash and the half-mile run in his division.

Twenty-four stars from major sports were entered in the two and one-half day event.

Miss Laughton birdied to tie on the 13th, but Miss Budke, who said she was not satisfied with her game Wednesday, pulled ahead. On the 11th hole in Miss Laughton scored a double bogey and Miss Budke bogeyed.

Seminfinals were slated for Friday and the 36-hole final for Saturday. Two sets of matches are scheduled today.

Orantes Survives Scare

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Top-seeded Manuel Orantes of Spain had a brief scare but rebounded to post a victory Wednesday over Australia's Bob Carmichael in the $90,000 National Clay Court Tennis Championships.

Sixth-seeded Mark Cox of England and No. 12 Jaime Fillol of Chile were upset but the other seeded players in men's singles who saw action Wednesday were winners. Fillol was sidetracked by Spain's Antonio Munoz, 5-7, 7-5, 6-1, while Cox lost to Romania's Ion Tiriac, 6-3, 6-3.

While the day's singles action was concentrated on the men's events, the No. 2 women's seed, Helga Masthoff of West Germany, withdrew because of illness and was expected to be out of action for a month.

Orantes fell behind Carmichael 4-2 but rallied to win the first set 7-6, taking the first five points in the 12-point tie breaker. He easily won the second set 6-0.

Second-seeded Jimmy Connors, runnerup here last year, eliminated Egypt's Ismail El Shafel, 6-2, 6-3.

Nikki Pilić, the No. 3 seed from Yugoslavia, posted a first-round 6-3, 6-3 victory over South Africa's Ray Moore. Later Pilić faced Mexico's Raul Ramirez and won the first set 7-6 and was leading in the second 2-1 when darkness forced postponement of the rest of the match.

Cliff Richey, Sarasota, Fla., the No. 5 seed, advanced with a triumph over Tom Edlefsen, Los Angeles, 6-2, 6-2. No. 8 seeded John Alexander of Australia defeated Eddie Dibbs, Miami, 6-4, 6-4.

France's Patrick Proisy, the No. 12 seed, defeated Belus Prajow of Chile, 6-0, 6-1.

Tenth-seeded Roscoe Tanner, Chattanooga, Tenn., defeated Frew McMillan of South Africa, 6-4, 6-4, then won a second-round match by default from Torbin Ulrich of Denmark.

In women's play, sixth-seeded Sharon Walsh of San Rafael, Calif., was ousted by Taiwan's Ching Ling-Chang, 6-2, 6-2, and No. 8 Pat Pretorius of South Africa defeated Laurie Tenney, Los Angeles, 6-3, 6-1.

Designated Hitter MVP Award Proposed

By United Press International
Many major league baseball players who couldn't field or were too slow afoot and one step away from retirement, were given a reprieve this season when the American League adopted the designated hitter rule.

Now sluggers like Orlando Cepeda of the Boston Red Sox, Deron Johnson of the Oakland A's, Frank Howard of the Detroit Tigers and Frank Robinson of the California Angels are earning their salaries just with the bat. Yet their importance to their respective teams must be recognized and William Loeb, publisher of the Manchester Union Leader in New Hampshire has offered to do just that.

Loeb dreamed up the idea of a Most Valuable Designated Hitter Award to be presented to a player chosen by baseball writers. Loeb has formally made a request to AL president Joe Cronin to have the inaugural presentation after the 1973 season. A prize of $1,000 will also be donated by Loeb to the winner.

New Champion At Sawyerkill

SAUGERTIES
A new club champion will be crowned at Sawyerkill County Club after the 36-hole final on Sunday. Dennis Beaver will square off against Willie Goff and George Barber will face Dale Heineck in semi-final matches.

The survivors of those matchups will vie for the championship currently held by Andy Jasienowski, who chose not to defend his title.

Results of first round matches in Championship and First Flights:

Championship—Dennis Beaver def. Pete Fischer 2 and 1, Willie Goff def. Harry Szarmach 2 up, George Barber def. Jack Warrs 1 up and Dale Heineck def. Frank Weller 1 up.

First—Charles Brown def. Dave Halpert 1 up, Gabe Vozdik def. Barry Price 4 up, Al Conte def. Shad Fuller 3 and 2, and Dr. Irving Dreishpoon def. R. Craft 1 up.

Double Victory For Schmedake

ST. REMY
Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club publicist Bob Schmedake had plenty to talk about after Wednesday night's trap and skeet shoots here. Schmedake fired 25 straight en route to a .980 total and first place in trap, and hit .840 in skeet to share the top spot with Grover Ellsworth Sr. and Dan Hurley.

Bill Kopf and Brian Sawchuk were co-runners-up in trap, each with a .960 score. Kopf with 25 straight. Paul Kristofy was fourth with .900.

Others in the top ten were: Bob Carlson, .893; Dan Hurley, .880; Frank Weist Sr., .856; Grover Ellsworth Jr., .840; Grover Ellsworth Sr., .827; and Frank Weist Jr., .800.

Seniors Blanks Available

WOODSTOCK
Entry blanks for the annual Ulster County Seniors Golf Tournament have been mailed to all 1972 contestants. Seniors President A. J. DeLisio has announced. The tournament will be held Sunday, Sept. 9, at Woodstock Country Club.

All area pro shops have additional entry blanks for those registering for the first time. DeLisio said. The tournament, open to all golfers 50 years old or older, will be limited to the first 96 entries. Seniors must be bonafide residents of Ulster County and have a bonafide handicap.

The tournament is played in five age groups: Class A, 70 and over; Class B, 65-69; Class C, 60-64; Class D, 55-59; Class E, 50-54.

United Press International interviewed several designated hitters around the league to get their reaction to Loeb's proposal. All but one of those polled favored the idea.

Cepeda, whose carved up knees have limited him to a trot while running the bases, would be the leading candidate to win the award.

"It seems like a good idea," said Cepeda, the most successful of the DH's with a batting average of .300, 18 home runs and 71 runs batted in as of August 15. "I like it. I wouldn't push for it but if it was put in, it would be a good idea."

Johnson, who was sitting on the bench with the Philadelphia Phillies in the National League before being given a new life with the A's, disagrees with Cepeda.

"I don't think it's such a good idea," he said. "Not all the clubs have just one designated hitter and it's not fair for those who alternate. I don't think the designated hitter should be singled out. Except that he does not play the field, he's just like a regular ballplayer."

"I think it would be great to have an award honoring the designated hitter," said Howard. "It would be a real good gesture to honor a guy like Cepeda who I would pay to see myself."

Robinson, the only player in baseball history to win Most Valuable Player Award in both the American and National leagues, agrees that the cash prize is a good idea but believes designated hitters should be eligible for the regular MVP.

"That's a very good idea," said Robinson when he was told of Loeb's offer to give $1,000 to the best DH in the American League, "but I doubt if I'd have much of a shot at it this year against guys like Cepeda or Johnson. They've both been having superb years."

"But I don't see why there should be a separate award. Designated hitters should be as eligible for the MVP as any other player. MVP's are voted on not for their fielding but for their hitting. Nobody ever won the MVP because of his glove. Hitting is the name of the game and if a designated hitter is winning ball games with his bat then he should be given an equal chance at the MVP with other players."

Tony Oliva, a three-time batting champion with the Minnesota Twins who has been forced into DH duty because of knee surgery, says, "I think it's tough to be a designated hitter. You feel out of place not playing in the game. I go into the clubhouse during the game to swing a bat and other exercises to keep loose. I thought I might be playing the outfield by this time of the year but now I have to wait until next year."

"There is no question it's been a good rule for me because my knees haven't been strong enough to play every day. It would bring some recognition to the designated hitter if there was a reward. I would like to see it and would be proud to win it."

Colonie Little Leaguers 1 Game From World Series
KINGSTON
The Colonie Little League team which eliminated Kingston American and then won two key games at the Kingston National and American League fields en route to a New York State championship, is one win away from a trip to the World Series in Williamsport, Pa.

Colonie Wednesday blanked Windsor Locks, Conn., 5-0, behind a two-hit, 13 strikeout performance by ace right hander Mark Friss to move into Saturday afternoon's finals against Hagerstown, Md., at the Eastern Regionals in Jersey City, N.J.

Friss struck out 16 Kingston Americans in no-hitting the locals several weeks ago.

Should Colonie make it to Williamsport, it would be the fifth team to do so. Three Schenectady teams made it in the 50's (the 1954 club winning the championship). A Glens Falls team also qualified for Williamsport during that decade.

Even After Aaron Breaks the Home Run Record

The Legend of Babe Ruth Will Never Die

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Legends die hard and the legend of Babe Ruth will live on even after Hank Aaron becomes baseball's new all-time home run king.

It must be difficult for current fans to understand why Ruth, who died 25 years ago today, will remain the all-time home run king in the minds of millions of Americans after Aaron surpasses his greatest record. Some of them are undoubtedly racists and others are professional old-timers who yearn for "the good old days of their youth."

But many others are average people who were awed by the sight of Ruthian majesty and have never been as emotionally affected by Aaron or any other athlete. Some of these aren't even baseball fans. They may be housewives who heard their husbands talk about Ruth and then saw him in a game or a railroad station and remember it as a shining moment when they saw a special kind of greatness.

Those who will continue to regard Ruth as the all-time home run king can support their belief by showing the Babe averaged 8.5 homers for every 100 at-bats while Aaron has averaged 5.7 for every 100 at-bats. They can also point that Ruth often hit more homers in a season than any team in baseball...that as late as 1927 he was hitting 14 percent of all the homers hit by American League players...and that from 1920 through 1933 he hit a total of 637 homers or an average of 45.5 per season.

Such figures form the basis of the "case for the Babe" but statisticians don't create legends. Not like this one, anyway.

American Dream

Ruth was a man who lived the American dream beginning with his youth which was spent in St. Mary's orphanage in Baltimore, Md. He joined the Boston Red Sox in 1914, the year World War I started, and was acquired by the New York Yankees in 1920, the year after the Black Sox World Series scandal. The latter date is pivotal. Baseball's honor lay in the gutter as a result of the scandal and the Babe reached down with his 52-ounce bat and lifted it to the status of the national pastime.

This Ruth was not the overblown Ruth of 1930 with his 250-pound Santa Claus-like body supported by spindly legs. This was a lean and hard, 6-foot, 3-inch, 215-pound super athlete. These were the Roaring Twenties in the United States which had turned its thoughts to fun after having taken part in the "war to end wars."

Wonderful Nonsense

It was an era of wonderful nonsense and Ruth strode through it like Everyman turned loose in the Garden of Fun. He was big and coarse...tramping through life with a reckless abandon...eating, drinking and brawling with astonishing appetite. His Ruthian power literally saved and transformed the game. Baseball was a game of pitching, stolen bases, bunts and hit-and-run plays before he appeared on the scene. He gave the game its new dimension of power—its essential element of excitement.

The United States was enjoying life on a scale the world may never have seen before and no one was enjoying it more than Ruth.

Graham's Description

Frank Graham, who traveled with Ruth as a sports writer for the New York Sun, described the Ruth of that era as follows:

"He was a very simple man, in some ways a primitive man. He had little education and little need for what he had. For it was as if his life had been ordered for him, so that he did not have to turn a page in a book or do sums in arithmetic to gain the knowledge he needed to become rich and famous."

"He traveled the world over, yet when his travels were done he could tell you nothing about the places he had been save the places where he had had fun. He literally walked with kings, yet he couldn't remember their names. He couldn't even tell you the names of all his teammates, although he had names of his own for them such as Chicken Neck, Flop Ears, Duck Eye, Horse Nose and Rubber Belly.

"His appetites were prodigious and as long as he was in robust health—and he was for almost all of his life—he made no effort to restrain them. The jug and the platter were as much a part of his existence as the bat and the ball. He had a fondness for automobiles which he drove at such terrific speeds as to wear them out or, in reckless moments, wrap them around telegraph poles.

"He was warmhearted, fabulously generous, genuinely fond of children, greatly moved by the ills and trials of others, devoted to his family and his friends—and would not have known how to deal with an enemy for the simple reason that he never had one."

Gotta See the Babe

This was the Ruth my father took me to see when I was nine years old. My father was a Giant fan, who hated the Yankees and believed John McGraw was the greatest man in baseball history but he announced one day in 1934 that we were going to Yankee Stadium.

"I've never gone there before," he said. "But I want my son to be able to say he saw Babe Ruth play."

That son has only the vaguest recollection of seeing Ruth play in 1934 but in 1947, as a young sports writer, he saw him again. The occasion was one of the earliest of the Old-Timers Day promotions, the Yankees having asked a batch of the famous old heroes to take a bow. Ruth, of course, was the big attraction and I was in the Yankee clubhouse along with the players and other writers when the word came that Ruth had reached the stadium.

We had been sitting around talking about Ruth and the old days...arguing whether, in fact, Ty Cobb or Honus Wagner or Wee Willie Keeler was a greater player...remembering his exploits...in short, talking baseball.

An then, suddenly, the door to the clubhouse flew open and there he was.

Every man in the room rose to his feet as Ruth stood in the doorway, thinner and paler than anyone had expected, but still an imposing figure. He hesitated a moment and then strode down the center of the clubhouse and with a wave of his arm called out, "Hiya kids." I never again had to ask whether he was, in fact, the best of them all.

Seemed Unbelievable

And yet a teammate like Harry Hooper, who played in the American League from 1909 through 1925, admits it all seemed unbelievable.

"You know, I saw it all happen from beginning to end but sometimes I still can't believe what I saw," Hooper said many years later. "This 19-year-old kid, crude, poorly educated, only lightly touched by the social veneer we call civilization, gradually transformed into the idol of American youth and the symbol of baseball the world over—a man loved by more people and with an intensity of feeling that perhaps has never been equaled before or since."

"I saw a man transformed from a human being into something pretty close to a god," Hooper continued. "If somebody had predicted that on the Red Sox in 1914, he would have been thrown into a lunatic asylum."

Ruth was an outstanding pitcher who had successive 18, 23-12 and 24-13 records from 1915 through 1917. He hit a total of nine homers in 351 at bats during those three seasons and in 1918 was used as a pitcher, first baseman and outfielder. He had a 13-7 record as a pitcher and tied for the league lead with 11 homers. He appeared in 130 games, but only 17 as a pitcher in 1919, and set a new major league record of 29 homers in one season.

The Man and the Hour

At this point, Yankee club owner Jacob Ruppert learned that Harry Frazee, who owned the Red Sox, was short of money. Ruppert offered Frazee $125,000 and Ruth became a Yankee. The man and the hour were at hand.

From 1920 through 1933, Ruth's season home run totals were 54, 59, 35, 41, 46, 25, 47, 60, 54, 46, 49, 46, 41 and 34. The figures are impressive enough today but in that era were acting as pall bearers, carried the coffin down the center aisle and higher than anyone of dreamed possible. He hit more home runs than teams did. He sweat from his forehead with a Black handkerchief and said, "Boy Sox, Yankee Stadium was constructed and called the House that Ruth Built. He founded the Yankee dynasty that one."

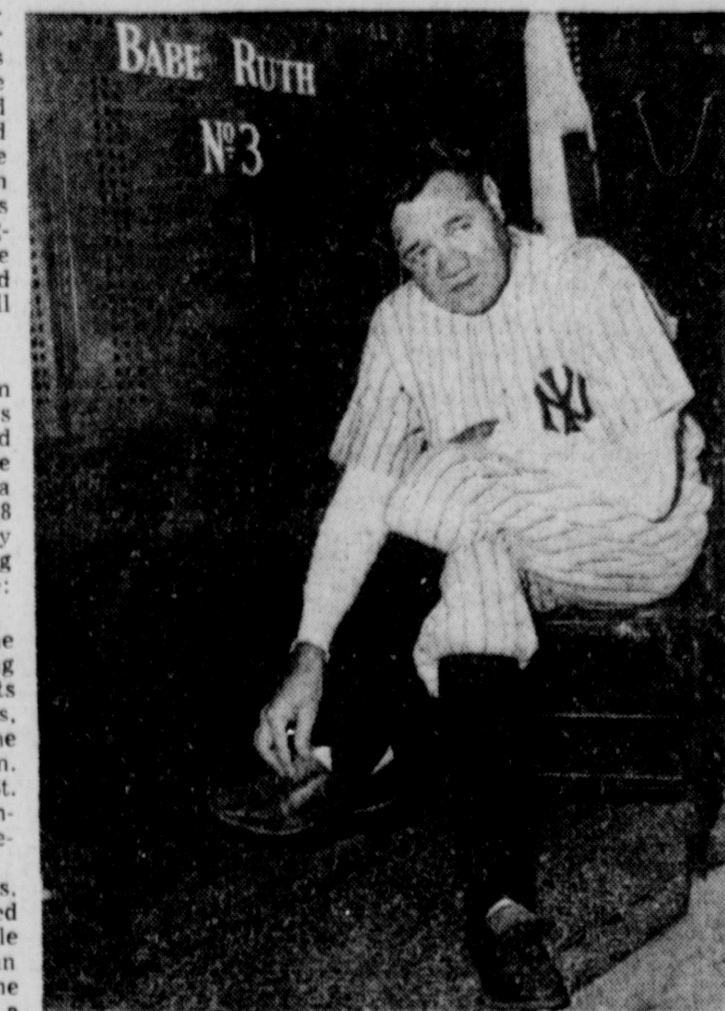

that lasted 43 years until 1964. He combined power and con-

Even in Death

The Yankees brought him back to a couple of old-timers games but he never filled Yankee Stadium in his life as he did in death. He died on a steaming hot August 16, 1948 and there was, of course, only one place in New York big enough to hold the wake: Yankee Stadium.

They came—the people he had thrilled and awed—in long lines for three days and nights to pay their final respects, filing slowly past the bier in the rotunda of the huge stadium. He was buried from St. Patrick's Cathedral where Francis Cardinal Spellman delivered the eulogy.

As his former teammates, acting as pall bearers, carried the coffin down the center aisle of the cathedral, Joe Dugan turned to Waite Hoyt, wiped the sweat from his forehead with a Black handkerchief and said, "Boy Sox, Yankee Stadium was constructed and called the House that Ruth Built. He founded the Yankee dynasty that one."

THE BABE sits in front of his locker at Yankee Stadium on June 13, 1948, two months before his death. He was there for the silver anniversary of the stadium—'The House That Ruth Built.' Today is the 25th anniversary of The Babe's death. (UPI) Saugetries will be represented by Bill Quinn and Rick Pesce. The last demo derby of the season five heats and feature a 10-car feature. Rain date is Sunday, Aug. 19.

Love Bugs Champions In SAA Lassie Softball

SAUGERTIES The Love Bugs have clinched the SAA Lassie Softball League's National Division pennant while the Greenbacks and the Cuties are still fighting it out for the top spot in the American Division.

An 11-8 win by the Love Bugs over Rosie's Raiders, and the Pussycats' 14-9 thrashing of Rosie's spelled doom for the Raiders and lifted the Love Bugs to an unbeatable position.

In another game, the Crickets topped the Pussycats, 7-1.

Hitting stars in the recent action were Karen O'Reilly (three hits), and Nancy Pavlak (two hits, two runs batted in) for the Love Bugs; Trina Van Tassel (three singles), Heidi Richards (double, single, three runs batted in) and Toni Lezette (double, single, two runs batted in) for the Pussycats; Vicki Pelham (homers, two singles, five runs batted in) for Rosie's; and Georgina Gantner (two doubles) for the Crickets.

Fritz, Thomas Point Leaders

RED HOOK

Liz Fritz and Sharon Thomas of the Red Hook swim team have amassed more individual points in one month than most swim teams score in dual meets. Liz, 8, and Sharon, 13, each won 24 consecutive races, totaling 240 points.

Both girls were unbeaten during the eight game Bi-Valley Swim League season, as the Red Hook Sea Raiders compiled a 7-1 record.

Establishing new records was no problem for the Sea Raider duo. Liz set Red Hook pool records in 25 yard competition of freestyle, butterfly and backstroke, while Sharon earned the title of queen of the 14 and unders by setting new marks in the 50 yard breaststroke and 100 yard individual medley.

Liz and Sharon will rejoin the Kingston YMCA Swim Team next month and compete in the six month program of the Hudson River Swim Conference League. Both girls came under the early tutelage of former Red Hook coach Bob Demson and are now being helped along by Sea Raider mentor Bob Field.

Stone Dock Swimmers Win Invitational

NEW PALTZ — Four pool records were broken. Paul Hansen of Stone Dock lowered the 1650-yard freestyle standard from 18:18 to 18:09.9. Kevin Connell of the Poughkeepsie YMCA set a new open 400 individual medley clocking of 4:42.8. Paul Eaton of the Norwich Elks set two pool records with clockings of 2:09.2 in the 200 yard butterfly and 54.7 in the open 100 butterfly. Poughkeepsie Y led in age group team trophy awards with five. Stone Dock swimmers won four and the other went to the Delmar Dolphins.

Deitz Rally Stops Dawkins

KINGSTON — Deitz Auto Supply scored two goals in the last two minutes to edge Dawkins Insurance, 4-3, in the Mid-Hudson Soccer League. Bluestones, Dan Morrier had and Emile Jordan added another for the winners. Conti scored twice and Ron Weber once for Dawkins.

In other action, Kevin Carpenter's three goals paced the Dolphins to a 4-2 win over the Bluestones. Dan Morrier had and Emile Jordan added another for the winners. Conti scored twice and Ron Weber once for Dawkins.

Court Rest kept alive its play-off hopes with a 4-0 zipping of the Dutchmen, as Chris Zanos hit twice and Dave Farrell and Randy Freeman added single goals.

The Dolphins remained atop the league with a 3-0 victory over Franz. Tim Williams scored twice and Dan Williams once for the Dolphins.

National BRL Honors To Quilty Insurance

KINGSTON — The Knights of Columbus baseball team never did solve the riddle of Quilty Insurance during the 1973 season. They lost to them three times and the third setback cost them the National Division of the Babe Ruth League.

Mark Chapman pitched a four-hitter and struck out eight to gain a 2-1 decision over Marco Tiano, who allowed only three hits and fanned nine. But Quilty's had the extra run and that's what counted.

The Insurers scored single runs in the third and fourth innings, while Chapman limited the Knights to their lone run in the fifth inning.

Jim Amato, who collected two singles, knocked in the only Knights run in the fifth. Vince Moeden had a double and Terry Barton chipped in with a single.

The three Quilty hits went to Mike Kearney, who had an RBI. Tony Turk and John McGrane.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Many new ideas are now yours and you can get off to some interesting new situations and people who inspire you with the right means for making your life more effective and through whom you can gain the information necessary if you advance towards a more interesting life. Expand.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Be active dealing with people and problems important to your welfare and get excellent results. Engineer the works wisely. Entertain good friends charmingly.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Find the right way to get the advice you need from experts so you can put it to excellent use. Follow your intuition for more success in the future. Avoid one who wants to horn in on your territory.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Plan time for being with trusted pals and get into those group affairs important to your well-being. If you use a positive approach you can get the action on that personal aim. Don't retire too late tonight.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Contact those people who can do much to further your aims of a career nature. Add to prestige by joining in some civic work that is important. Show you have true ability.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Get into the good graces of a charming person whose experiences have been different from yours. Gain much thereby. Make the plans now to travel for some important purpose and count the cost well.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Sit down with experts and find the best way to handle your responsibilities without having to worry so much. Find a better way to please loved one. Also, show your are loyal.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Sit down with associates and discuss mutual aims and operations intelligently for right results. Being more cooperative with others brings fine understanding. A little firmness with mate brings good results now.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) A day to get much work done provided you first schedule your time and activities wisely. Make sure that co-workers understand work plan before delving into it. Home is to your best bet tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) A day for doing pretty much what you want to do and doing it well, since you operate best this way, whether in business or social life. Remember mate with some charming gift. Show your true care.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get into the activities at home that kin approve of for excellent results, pleasing all concerned. Then take it easy at home and enjoy the company of those you love. Take that chip off your shoulder.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are alert and clever now and should sit down with partners and reach a fine understanding as to future operations. Handle letter writing, transportation matters wisely. Avoid one who wants to waste your time.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You want to add to present income and can do just that if you follow through on fine practical ideas you have. Do listen to what a most successful person you know has to suggest. Avoid one who has strange ideas.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those individuals with a fine mind who will want to have praise for anything really worthwhile accomplished early in life. The incentive will be lessened by criticism as this is a sensitive youngster who needs to be handled with the proverbial kid gloves. There can be fame in this chart, especially in the field of government, the theatre, or the oratorical platform. Give the finest education you can afford.

"The Star in the pel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU! Carroll Righter's Individual Forecast for your sign for September is now ready. For your copy send your birthdate and $1 to Carroll Righter Forecast The Daily Freeman, Box 629, Hollywood, Calif. 90028.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The 1972 hurricane season was the quietest in 42 years according to the National Hurricane Center. The low hurricane activity was attributed to three unusual conditions—lower sea temperatures in the Atlantic, a stationary inter-tropical convergence zone and widely varied wind currents. The World Almanac notes. Officials at the hurricane center could not explain what factors created these weather conditions.

WHY WE SAY

COLD FEET
FROST: When we say that someone has "cold feet" we mean that they are afraid of something. The expression started with soldiers in the 19th century. One of the chief ailments in battle was frozen feet... but it was also said that some soldiers feigned this trouble to avoid battle.

Jean Adams'

TEEN FORUM

NO ACTION: (Q) In May of 1972 I met a guy named Mark. We went together that summer. He is now in the service. When he comes home he doesn't call me, and when he is away he doesn't write me.

When I get a chance to talk to him (which is seldom), he says he still loves me.

He means the world to me and I love him so much. But I am unsure of his real feelings because he makes no effort to keep in touch with me or have a date with me.

Please tell me how I can keep him. — Forsaken in Florida.
(A) It seems to me that if you ever had Mark's love or more-than-casual interest, you have lost it. His statements about love are empty and false. He seems to count you as a part of his past.

Stop hoping he will change. Turn your attention to some other young man with whom you will at least have a chance for a future.

FRIENDSHIP: (Q) I hope you answer this letter because I really don't know what to do. I like Sandy, but she is a different color from me. I don't know whether I should keep our friendship or drop it. — Doubtful in D.C.

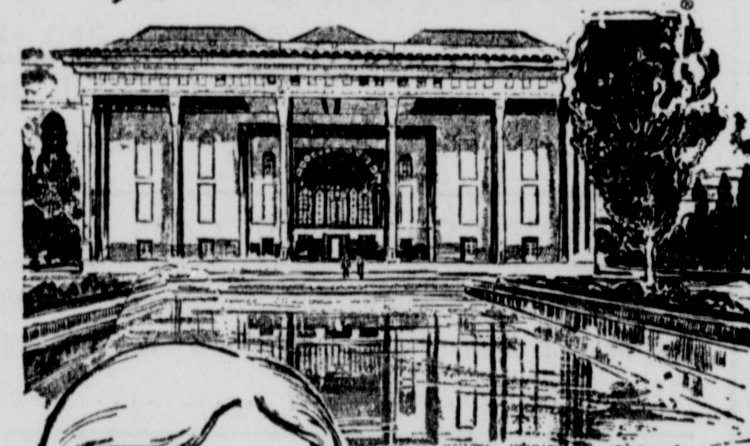

(A) There is no reason to drop a friend, no matter what color she or he is. We all should have friends of all kinds, and keep them.

If, however, Sandy should become more than a friend, you and she should ask yourselves many questions. Both of you should be very sure how you feel about each other and about the future.

The only way you could be sure would be to talk it out, at length, until you know where you stand and where she stands, and she knows the same about herself and about you.

(Jean Adams reads and considers every letter, but she regrets that she cannot answer each personally. Mail your questions or comments to Jean Adams, care of this newspaper, P. O. Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001.)

CBS Bite-the-Bullet Week

NEW YORK (AP) — This is even though 79 of CBS' 200 affiliates — including a CBS-owned station in St. Louis — decline to carry it, network officials say.

The play has strong, graphic language and scenes, including an ending in which the war-blinded vet is encouraged by his family to commit suicide. He does so, by slashing his wrists on-camera.

The drama was scheduled for March 9, but was postponed because U.S. prisoners of war were returning from Southeast Asia. The network felt the show might prove "unnecessarily abrasive" to viewers then.

It said the refusal of 70 CBS affiliates to carry it at that time played no part in the postponement.

As far as Tuesday's "Maude" episode goes, CBS says at least 13 affiliates refused to carry it. The figure is 11 more than when the program first was shown in November.

CBS, then as now, denies the two-part show "advocates" abortion, a charge made by Bishop James S. Rausch, general secretary of the United States Catholic Conference in Washington, D.C.

He's urged all 160 Catholic dioceses, the members of 20,000 Catholic parishes and nonsectarian "right-to-life" groups to protest the CBS decision to rerun the two "Maude" episodes.

Many groups are doing just that, with letters to CBS affiliates, the network proper and the Federal Communications Commission.

The American Civil Liberties Union has entered the fray on the side of CBS. It's urging ACLU chapters in the U.S. to enlist support, in writing, for the right of CBS to show the episodes.

After all the uproar, CBS started Tuesday's show with a vocal and visual warning.

It's saying that since the show "deals with Maude's dilemma as she contemplates the possibility of an abortion, you may wish to refrain from watching it if you believe the broadcast may disturb you or others in your family."

GM Door Open On '74 Hikes

By United Press International
More expensive steel can only mean higher costs for manufactured goods, two major firms indicated Wednesday.

A spokesman for Westinghouse Electric said the firm was "very concerned" about increases in the cost of raw materials. A General Motors spokesman said GM, which has already asked for price increases on 1974 model cars, was "leaving the door open" for further hikes because of the steel increases.

Kaiser Steel Corp. Wednesday joined other steel manufacturers in giving notice of price hikes. Its request was "modest in relation to our cost increases," Kaiser said.

A number of steel companies, including U.S. Steel and Bethlehem, have given notice under the rules of the Phase IV economic plan that they plan to raise their prices about 5 percent on some products after 30 days.

In other developments:

The administrator of the U.S. Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service said he sees food prices leveling off, and even coming down a little, but not to the levels they held in the past. "We now see the world demand at a record level," said Kenneth E. Frick at a San Francisco news conference. "We are moving out of a period of surpluses."

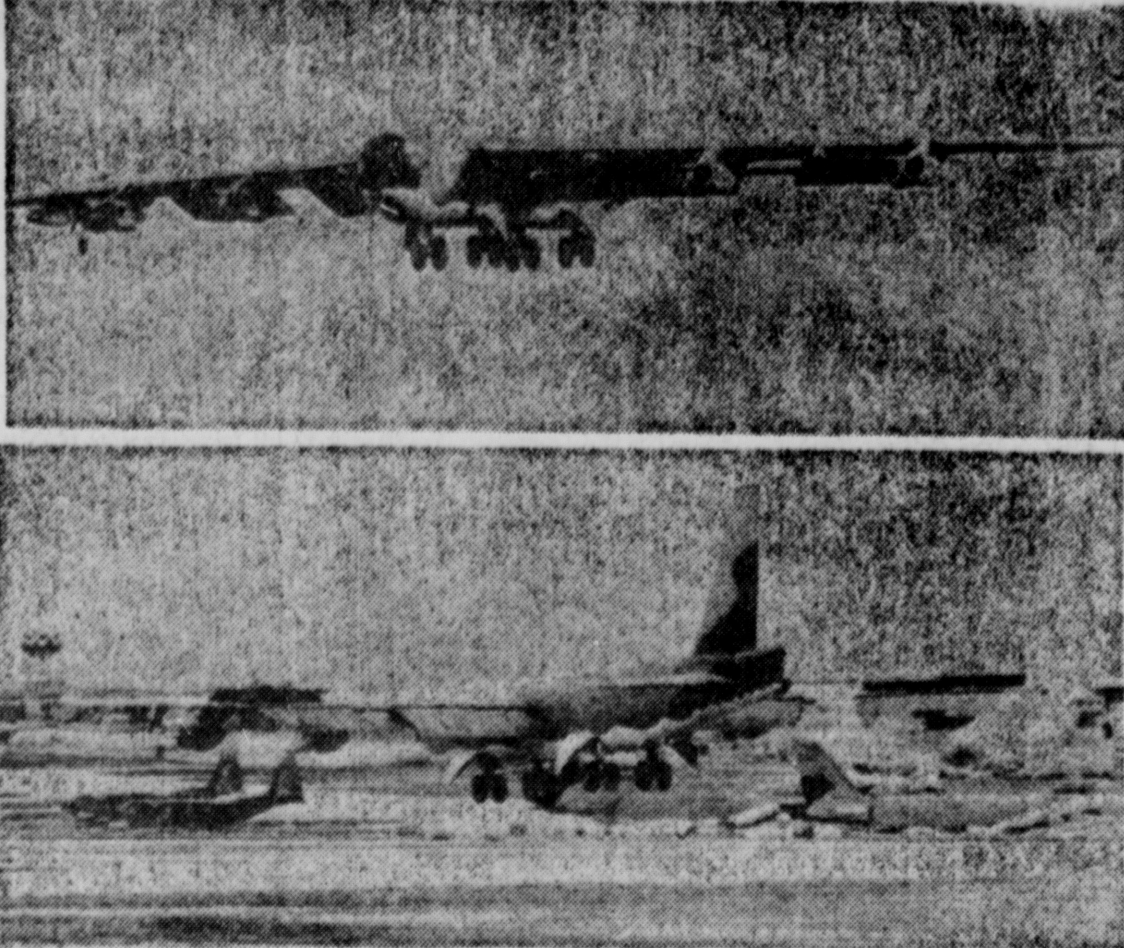

He said he expects record crops of corn, wheat and soybeans this year and "full supply to the housewife over the next six months of everything, including meat."

In New York, the city said food prices rose 4.5 percent last week—the largest increase in three months. "We had anticipated price increases in meats and poultry," said Consumer Affairs Commissioner Betty Furness, "but now those increases are also apparent in grain products such as bread and flour."

The Agriculture Department in San Diego, Calif., said approximately 10,000 of the 30,000 cars crossing the border at Tijuana last weekend were carrying meat bought at inexpensive butcher shops in Mexico. The department warned that eggs, poultry and pork are banned for fear of disease.

Wheat dropped sharply in price after hitting a record price of $5.14 a bushel for September futures in trading on the Chicago Board of Trade. September wheat futures closed at $4.87½ to $4.89½ a bushel, compared to Tuesday's closing price of $4.94.

President Concedes a War Point

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has signaled that he finally was conceding Congress equal power in setting policy for Indochina, administration officials say.

The acknowledgement, Nixon's first direct concession on the issue, came in a statement on Cambodia issued Wednesday by the White House. "It should be clearly understood in Hanoi that the President will work with Congress in order to take the appropriate action if North Vietnam mounts an offensive which jeopardizes the stability in Indochina."

The shift in Nixon's attitude toward congressional involvement actually was more important than the warning to Hanoi, the officials said.

They repeated that the United States is virtually helpless in influencing events in Indochina following an order by Congress that ended U.S. bombing of Cambodia as of Wednesday.

The same law prevents the reintroduction of any American combat role in Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia, which means Nixon holds no leverage in preventing Hanoi or its allies from acting.

It is understood that Nixon did not embrace Congress as a partner in future Indochina decisions because of a change of heart over his role or responsibility.

Instead, the President is said to be attempting to put Congress in a position where it can be blamed for any future aggressiveness by North Vietnam and for any failure in preventing further Communist victories.

This theme was first stated as the administration fought various attempts in Congress to limit its power in fighting the Vietnam war.

Now, Congress is on notice that action opposing the fall of Cambodia, which is considered likely, or a major new move by North Vietnam against South Vietnam or in Laos, will require action by Capitol Hill.

If, as the administration now expects, Congress refuses to give Nixon power to strike back or provide more direct aid to Saigon or other friendly Southeast Asian nations, then Nixon can say he had warned of such dire consequences.

Cambodians Take Town From Rebels

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Government troops fought the war for the first time in 4½ years without U.S. air support today and the high command said they recaptured a town south of Phnom Penh aided only by propeller-driven Cambodian warplanes.

The U.S. bombing of Cambodia officially ended at 11 a.m. Wednesday (midnight Tuesday) EDT and field reports said ground fighting around Phnom Penh throughout the rest of the day dipped to the lowest level in months.

The first U.S. bombs began falling in Indochina when warplanes went into action 12 years ago in South Vietnam and the bombing of Cambodia began secretly in 1968.

But at midmorning today, what appeared to be a U.S. F4 Phantom fighter-bomber passed high over Phnom Penh heading south. Under orders from the Defense Department, unarmed U.S. reconnaissance resupply flights will continue, and presumably the American jet sighted over the capital was on such a mission.

A command spokesman said government troops supported by Cambodian air force propeller-driven T28 bombers today recaptured Kompong Kantuot 14 miles south of Phnom Penh.

Cons Give Up Tower Perch

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (UPI) — Three convicts climbed down Wednesday from a 120-foot water tower at Washington State Prison where they had been perched since July 4.

Prison authorities generally ignored the three men for more than a month since they were not disturbing other inmates. Authorities made "no commitments or promises" except to discuss the prisoners' demands, a spokesman said.

Ken Agtuea, Leon Gaze and Ron Harstad had demanded that the prison hire an Indian occupational counselor and eliminate discriminatory policies.

Other convicts passed blankets, food and water to the trio on a fishing line which they lowered to the ground. They slept on a catwalk around the water storage tank.

Military sources said, however, the rebels put up stiff resistance and government forces lost at least 12 killed and 8 wounded.

Kompong Kantuot fell to the rebels about five weeks ago when encircled government forces retreated north of the Prek Thanot River. The insurgents blew up the bridge over the river after the evacuation.

Around the capital today, however, little rebel activity was reported. Reports from newsmen in the field Wednesday said it was one of the lightest days of combat around Phnom Penh since the escalation of U.S. air war over the country began in March.

Command spokesman Col. Am Rong said today the Khmer Rouge insurgents have been forced to regroup due to heavy losses inflicted by American bombs. But some intelligence specialists believe the rebels shaken the capital since March, fell back to await the bombing halt before mounting a new offensive on Phnom Penh. In Phnom Penh, the city and sunny—but silent—skies.

Teamsters vs. UFW Pickets

First Death in Coast Dispute

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (UPI) — The battle between the Teamsters and United Farm Workers Union to organize California's field hands claimed its first life Wednesday.

Nagi Baifulluh, 24, a UFW picket from Keene, Calif., died in a Bakersfield hospital of head injuries received during an altercation with police Tuesday outside a tavern in nearby Lamont.

Violence also flared on the picket lines Wednesday when a farm hand opened fire on UFW pickets, including the son of union leader Cesar Chavez, at a ranch near Earlimart in Tulare County.

No one was hit when a non-striking employee of George Lucas ranch fired several shots at the UFW supporters following a rock throwing fight between pickets and workers.

Chavez' son, Fernando, 24, an intern on the staff of state Assemblyman Richard Valatorre, dove behind a car when the shooting broke out. Chavez said he had joined the pickets as a legislative observer.

Tulare County sheriff's deputy arrested Luis Q. Rivera, 29, of Earlimart, in connection with the shooting.

Baifulluh died following an operation for injuries received the previous night after a brawl in a Lamont tavern.

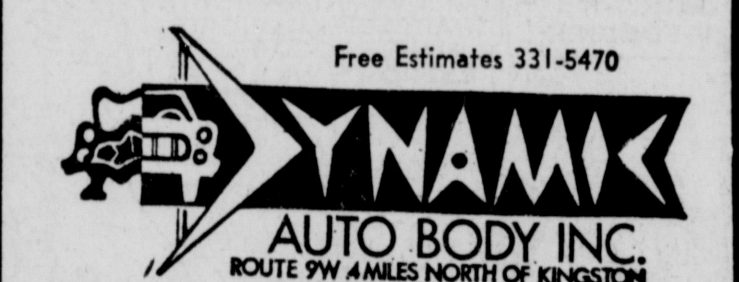

Kern County sheriff's office said Baifulluh was fleeing from Deputy Gilbert Cooper when he fell and struck his head. They said Cooper had been hit by a bottle throw by Baifulluh in the tavern and that the deputy struck the UFW member twice on the shoulder with his flashlight before Baifulluh fell.

Jerry Cohen, the union's attorney, charged the death struck on the back of the head was "tantamount to murder" by the flashlight, and added and involved the use of that the bottle thrown in the excessive force by officers, bar didn't hit anyone.

Lawyers Fight Henley Test

HOUSTON (AP) — Attorneys for Elmer Wayne Henley Jr. were to go to court today to battle a state attempt to force a psychiatric examination of the youth, one of two teen-agers accused in the largest mass murder in the nation's history.

Charles Melder, a defense lawyer, blocked an examination by the Harris County psychiatric unit Tuesday but said Henley, 17, probably would be in court for today's hearing.

"I never heard of such a motion nor has any other lawyer," Melder said in an interview. Asst. Dist. Atty. Mike Hinton said the prosecution was making the unusual move "because of the extreme atrocity and depravity of the killings."

Twenty-seven bodies of teenage boys and young men have been unearthed since Henley called police Aug. 8 to tell them he had killed Dean A. Corll, 33, alleged mastermind of a homosexual procurement, rape and slaying ring.

Henley has been indicted separately in two of the 27 slayings and jointly with David O. Brooks, 18, in a third death.

Henley was also charged with three of the murders by St. Augustine County authorities and has told police he took part in nine of the slayings. Brooks said he witnessed some of the killings but denied taking any direct part.

"We feel sure both defendants are mentally competent under the law," Hinton said.
